Germany Faced By Military Disaster On Four War Fronts

Interpretation By

Kirke L. Simpson

(Wide World War Analyst)

The elements of decisive military isaster were present for Nazi Germany on four war fronts this late eptember week-end.

Given good weather to bring the ull weight of Russian and Allied ir supremacy into sustained play and imultaneous collapse of enemy defensive dikes east, west and south hight come at any moment. It would nd a flood tide of United Nations orces pouring across the Rhine and ne Vistula and up through Italian, alkan and Hungarian gateways in onverging stabs at the heart of Nazi-om.

At the very moment the battle of ne Rhine reached it crisis at Arnem in east central Holland there ame word of Nazi defeats in the east nd the south.

Russian-Polish columns were reorted across the Vistula at last and Warsaw itself, insuring the fall f the critical central anchorage of e German eastern line. Other Red rces were moving into the Hunarian plain from the Transylvanian lps, within striking distance of the udapest hub of Nazi southeastern mmunications.

DEMOBILIZATION HEAD CONSIDERED

resident Expected To Make Selection And Sign Reconversion Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(AP)—A ospect of an early presidential sigture—perhaps next week—on the conversion and war surplus bills rred speculation today on Mr. osevelt's choice of new faces in the gh official family.

Fred M. Vinson, Donald M. Nelson, rold D. Smith and Chester Bowles ve been mentioned among possibilis for the proposed No. 1 demobiltion job, director of the Office of ar Mobilization and Reconversion. rector James F. Byrnes has declared intention to step out of the govnment when his Office of War obilization becomes OWMR.

Vinson, now director of the Office Economic Stabilization, appears to ve the inside track if Mr. Roosevelt cides simply to promote the next in e of the executive hierarchy. His the job from which Byrnes adnced.

Nelson, now en route home from a esidential mission to China, has inated a desire to step out of his rmy War Production Board chairnship, leaving WPB's role in indusl demobilization to a younger man ho might turn out to be J. A. Krug, now firmly running WPB as act- chairman.

Smith, director of the bureau of the dget, entered the running because bill would give OWMR power to mobilize the government as well as industrial economy. The president s week assigned the starting of that to Smith.

Cabinet Group Splits Wide Open On Proposal To Destroy Germany

Hull And Stimson Disagree With Morgenthau And Roosevelt

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's cabinet committee on German peace policy has split wide open, it was learned today, over a plan sponsored by Treasury Secretary Morgenthau for completely destroying Germany as a modern industrial state and converting it into an agricultural country of small farms.

Morgenthau's plan, drawn up after his recent return from European battlefronts and England, is reported to have had the general approval of the president since before his Quebec conference with Prime Minister Churchill. It has failed to win support, however, from Secretary of State Hull and is violently opposed by War Secretary Stimson.

Hull, Stimson and Mongenthau form the cabinet committee.

For the time being the dispute over the Morgenthau plan has so snarled up treasury, war and state department work on detailed arrangements for post-war control of Germany that three-power planning by this country, Britain and Russia on long-range German policy also has virtually stalled. This planning, carried on through the European advisory commission, had been proceeding along lines other than those advocated by Morgenthau, so far as American leaders were concerned.

Mr. Roosevelt presented the Mor-

RUSSIAN TROOPS CAPTURE PARNU

Seal Off Thousands Of Germans Between There And Tallinn

SOVIETS ANNOUNCE ENTRY INTO HUNGARY IMMINENT

By W. W. Hercher

LONDON, Sunday, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Russian troops racing across Estonia reached the west coast yesterday, capturing the port of Parnu on the Gulf of Riga and sealing off thousands of Germans in a week-old offensive which is estimated to have cost the enemy eight divisions, or 80,000 men.

The Red army aided by an Estonian corps captured Parnu in another two-mile-an-hour advance from Paide, 50 miles to the northeast, and its fall cut the land escape routes for thousands of a bewildered foe caught between Parnu and Tallinn, captured Estonian capital 72 miles to the north.

At sea Red naval planes pursued some German ships which escaped from Tallinn with troops aboard. During Friday the Soviet airmen sank 11 of these evacuation vessels, and apparently thousands of Germans perished in the Gulf of Finland.

The fall of Riga, Latvian capital 97 miles south of Parnu, appeared imminent as four powerful Soviet armies pressed the speedy cleanup of Estonia and Latvia in sensational gains. Some Russian units were fighting in Riga's outer southern defenses, and Red artillery was laying down barrages on Nazi positions in the strategic city.

The Soviet victories in Estonia and Latvia were regarded merely as the forerunner of great attacks on East Prussia, in Poland and on Hungary. They shortened the front by more than 120 miles, gave the Red fleet new bases and the air force fields from which the Russians can control two-thirds of the Baltic sea.

Premier-Marshal Joseph Stalin in an order of the day announced the

Dillydallying With Public Health

One month ago today we called to the attention of health authorities of the community that cesspools were draining directly into the source of the city's water supply and asked that this dangerous condition be corrected.

Today these same cesspools are still draining their filth into our bayous. Today we are still drinking water that may—and most certain CAN—be contaminated by this filth. Meantime, the ancient art of buck-passing is being practiced by authorities concerned, with the public, as usual, the goat.

The head of our parish health unit says it's the city's responsibility because the conditions exist within the city limits; that the city has not appointed a board of health as required by law and that such a board should and could correct the evil.

The city counters by citing an act that is said to place all septic tanks, cesspools, etc., within or without the city limits, under the jurisdiction of the parish health unit, and the city contributes a large sum to the operation of the parish unit, and gives the unit space in a city-owned building in the belief that a more efficient health department can be maintained by the pooling of all resources.

Under the surface of all this technical talk, it seems that parties of both parts do not see eye-to-eye politically. There have been threats of removal here, and threats of retaliation there, and threats of withdrawal of appropriations if such and such is or is not done.

The World IS NOT interested in the political views of any of the parties concerned, nor in any personalities involved, nor in any controversy with respect to jurisdiction of the authorities, city, parish or state. What the World IS vitally interested in, is the health of the community. We have it on good authority, for instance, that infantile paralysis germs are not killed by chlorination of water, and we know that infantile paralysis is contracted by taking of contaminated water or food through the mouth. But that is not the only danger apparent or that could arise under present conditions.

Playing politics will exist as long as political government exists, but where the health and welfare of our citizenship is involved, politics should be adjourned. Playing politics with health is dangerous, and the public should demand that it be stopped immediately.

ARMSTRONG IS LEAVING POST

Superintendent Of L. T. I. Resigning To Take Effect Sept. 30

Announcement was made Saturday by Claude Harrison, state superintendent of institutions, of the resignation of Paul H. Armstrong, superintendent of the Louisiana Training Institute, to become effective September 30.

Mr. Armstrong, when interviewed Saturday, stated that when he came here it was with the intention of putting into effect a special program suited to remedial institutions such as the local school, and that it was one to require approximately a year's time to complete. He stated that this program has been completed successfully and its effectiveness is indicated in that other similar institutions are adopting many of his ideas.

He stated that he will take a short vacation and then will in all probability enter newspaper work, which he followed for six years, and he also said he worked his way through college in the University of West Virginia by newspaper work. A brother is manager of the Daily Herald in Syracuse, N. Y., and he may join the staff of that paper, he said. He succeeded Elmer C. Slagle in the local superintendency May 1, 1943.

His successor has not been publicly announced.

GOVERNMENT WILL PURCHASE COTTON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(AP)—War Food Administrator Marvin Jones announced tonight that WFA will purchase from farmers at parity prices all cotton of the 1944 crop for which a loan schedule has been announced and which may be placed in acceptable storage.

The program will start as soon as arrangements can be made and extended through next June 30, with the Commodity Credit Corporation handling actual purchases.

WFA said its cotton sales policy, announced on August 26, will be modified to permit the CCC to sell cotton at not less than parity.

Latest figures at the agriculture department showed that the cotton parity price on August 15, this year, was 21.08 cents a pound. It was $1.50 a bushel on wheat on the same date. The September 15 parity prices have not yet been announced.

Germans Badly Beaten, Collapse Time Nearing

Hitler's Forces Are Thoroughly Beaten On Battlefield

By Don Whitehead

WITH U. S. FIRST ARMY IN GERMANY, Sept. 16.—(Delayed)—(AP)—In just 102 days of breathtaking battle Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's infantry and armor have made enough military history to keep historians busy for many years—and they are still on the move.

On June 6 millions of people all over the world wondered with apprehension whether the Allies could successfully invade Europe, where the Germans had spent four years preparing a defense. There were pessimists who thought it could not be done or that the cost in lives would be too great.

But since that time Bradley's troops have stormed the beaches of Normandy, captured Cherbourg, smashed through the enemy's defenses west of St. Lo, captured Paris, swept across Belgium and blasted holes in the Siegfried line.

Germany is beaten—battered into submission by armies which out-

BRUMFIELD GIVEN SUPPORT OF DAVIS

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Gov. James H. Davis said tonight that if he were a voter in the Sixth Congressional district he would cast his vote for State Sen. H. Alva Brumfield, runoff opponent of incumbent U. S. Rep. James H. Morrison.

"I would do this," Davis said, "because Al Brumfield as a state senator cooperated with me fully in my program in the recent legislative session. I would feel that I owed Mr. Brumfield my vote.

"During the legislative session I learned to know and respect Al Brumfield as a competent and sincere legislator, one with the welfare of the state at heart and one who understands the state's needs, especially during the post-war period."

Brumfield had claimed support of the "Davis administration" in the first primary campaign, but the governor's only comment then was that he had never indorsed any candidate for office. The Sixth district congressional race was the only one in the state not settled in the first primary.

INJURY FATAL TO THOMAS E. GOZA

Succumbs After Being Struck By Auto On Winnsboro Road

Thomas E. Goza, 73, injured when he was hit by an automobile on the Winnsboro road early Thursday night, died yesterday morning at 3:55 o'clock at a local sanitarium.

Dr. J. T. French, parish coroner, said the aged Winnsboro road resident had died as the result of a fractured skull and intracranial hemorrhage. The inquest had been set for 10 a. m. Monday, Dr. French said.

Meanwhile, E. A. Penn, a railroad employe also living on the Winnsboro road, is being held in the Ouachita parish jail as the driver of the automobile that hit Goza, Sheriff Milton Coverdale said. No formal charges have been made against Penn, pending the outcome of the inquest.

The accident was said to have oc-

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT OPENS HIS FOURTH-TERM CAMPAIGN

By Howard W. Flieger

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(AP)—President Roosevelt opened his fourth term campaign tonight with a hard-hitting speech accusing the Republican opposition of attempting to claim credit for the New Deal. He charged that the G. O. P orators were guilty of "the most obvious common or garden variety of fraud."

Speaking before the A. F. L. Teamsters Union, the president said the "whole purpose of Republican oratory these days * * * is to persuade the American people that the Democratic Party was responsible for the 1929 crash and depression, and that the Republican Party was responsible for all social progress under the New Deal."

"There is one thing I am too old for," the president declared, "I cannot talk out of both sides of my mouth at the same time."

Mr. Roosevelt made a point by point reply to almost every criticism leveled against his administration by his Republican opponent, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

He declared the government welcomes "all sincere supporters of the cause of effective world collaboration, adding that "millions of Republicans are with us."

"And they too will resent this campaign talk by those who first woke up to the facts of international life a few short months ago, when they began to study the polls of public opinion," the president said.

Mr. Roosevelt, speaking before the same union which heard him open his third term campaign on September 11, 1940, greeted the teamsters by saying.

"I am actually four years older—

NEW PARTY IN TEXAS FORMED

Pro-Roosevelt Group Wins In Supreme Court Hearing

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Pro-Roosevelt electors won a state supreme court victory for a place on the November ballot, but a group of anti-Roosevelt Democrats announced the organization of a new party.

The anti-fourth termers said they would file another slate of presidential electors with the secretary of state Monday. They announced their plan after the supreme court unanimously ruled that Roosevelt-pledged electors nominated by the September state convention, and not the electors chosen at the May convention, should be certified for printing on the Nov. 7 ballot as the Democratic electors.

The new party, as yet unnamed, was organized in a closed convention.

A spokesman for the meeting released a formal statement saying the convention was called to form a party "since the name Democratic has been stolen from us by those new members of the party who believe in state socialism."

The new party's statement said it believed that a large majority of Texas people "resent and condemn the usurping of the Democratic party name by Communists, big-city machine politicians, Bronx Negro politicians and the C. I. O. political action committee * * *"

The May electors were instructed by that convention not to vote for the national nominees if the national convention failed to fulfill certain conditions. These conditions it rejected.

The anti-Roosevelt forces under chairmanship of Edgar Townes of Houston, with C. C. Renfro of Dallas acting as secretary, met immediately after the court's decision was announced.

J. Hart Willis of Dallas, a spokesman for the meeting, said that it had not been decided under what party

NAZIS RETREAT TOWARD BRENNER

British Fight Into Plains Of Po Valley Behind Gothic Lines

BRAZILIANS THREATENING FIRST MAJOR OBJECTIVE

By Noland Norgaard

ROME, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The British Eighth army, fighting out into the plains of the Po behind the Gothic line, seized strategic roads and rail lines today as the enemy retreated toward the Brenner pass and Germany was scourged from the air and sea.

In the center of the Italian front, the American Fifth army drove up to the southern threshold of strategic Futa pass, 28 miles south of the big Italian city of Bologna, and widened its breach in the Gothic line by seizing dominating heights on the west.

The Brazilian expeditionary force on the western seaward flank was well on the way to capturing its first big objective, hammering on 20 miles northwest of Pisa to within 23 miles of the Italian port of La Spezia.

Lt. Gen. Sir Oliver Lesse's Eighth army routed the last enemy troops south of the Marecchio river, which flows through the fallen eastern Gothic line anchor of Rimini and was swiftly deepening the bridgehead across the stream which puts it out on the Po plain.

As they fought out on to the ancient Via Aemilia, a highway which runs along the southern edge of the Po valley 75 miles northwest to Bologna British and Canadian troops were rounding up an increasing number of prisoners.

Other Eighth army forces were fighting straight north toward Ravenna, 34 miles beyond Rimini, driving before them concentrations of enemy troops who were raked yesterday by the fire of the British destroyer Loyal.

The advances also put the Eighth army astride rail lines which run northwest to the big Italian industrial city of Milan.

The clandestine pro-Allied Milan radio declared the Germans had been clearing out of that area for several days and a general strike had been called in the Piedmont to hamper their retreat to the Brenner pass.

Parlor City Circle To Be Hostess To District Convention

The supreme forest of the Woodmen Circle is to assemble in the Woodmen of the World hall at Jackson and Harrison streets, Monday when the local Parlor City No. 288 will be hostess to a district meet.

A noon luncheon will be held and the afternoon session will start promptly at 1 p. m. with the district officers in charge, recognition of guests and presentation of the flag.

The district president, Sybil George, will preside over the initiation of new members. Drill teams of Parlor City and the Shreveport Grove will assist in the initiations.

Following the draping of the charter, new district officers will be elected and installed.

The evening session of the convention, which will be open to the public, will begin at 8 p. m. Among the guests who are expected to attend are Mrs. Elvire D. Vaeth, national inner sentinel; Mattie Edney, state assistant attendant; Mamie Singisky, state junior supervisor; and Mae L. Conerly, state historian.

Mrs. H. H. Benoit is chairman of the local committee on arrangements which includes Mesdames Edney, Isabel Gibbs, Nettie Haines, Abbie Hawthorne and Mildred Boies.

The Woodmen Circle, with a membership of nearly 4,000, who carry certificates in excess of $3,500,000.

HARBOR FACILITIES OF BREST DAMAGED

BREST, France, Sept. 19.—(AP)—(Delayed)—German demolitions have damaged the harbor facilities of Brest, one of France's chief ports. The city itself is so badly battered that Capt. Forest Butler, of Coral Gables, Fla., assistant engineer of the Second infantry division, said it appeared the only thing to do would be to tear down the remaining wreckage and build a whole new city.

Acquisition of the port was one of the main reasons for the American drive to take the city rather than be content with starving out the Germans.

While American artillery pounded away at remnants of a Nazi force on the tip of Crozon peninsula across the bay from Brest, army engineers cleared the main streets of the debris left by the 26-day siege.

Arnhem Situation Remains Serious

Berlin Broadcast Says Fighting Will Decide Fate Of Whole Western Front; Supply Line Once More Intact

By Ernest Gnew

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The British Second army in a bloody six-mile relief march broke through in strength to the north branch of the Rhine in Holland opposite Arnhem today and sent shells whistling across the river into enemy lines girdling the valiant air-borne "lost division" just a quarter of a mile away.

Thousands of British and American glider troops and large amounts of supplies were flown in to reinforce Lt. Gen. Miles C. Dempsey's Second army and Eighth air force fighters beat off strong aerial opposition. A late front dispatch said the situation in Arnhem remained serious.

British tanks and infantry and American sky troopers who fought through stand-and-die resistance apparently had not yet crossed the Arnhem bridge for a linkup with air-borne forces that will signal a great Allied victory on the Ruhr valley route to Berlin.

Their long, thin line of supply was once more intact, for 30 miles south of this critical front British forces rushed up and chased away SS (elite guard) troops and 200 tanks who had slashed across the highway at the Dutch village of Veghel.

Supreme headquarters, which had described the Arnhem positions as "critical" only Friday, breathed more easily and from the commander of the British division in Arnhem came word that after six days of isolation "morale is high—we will hold out."

Rocket-firing Typhoons in great strength helped smash the Germans loose from their strangling hold on the life line at Veghel.

En route to the north branch of the Rhine, which winds along the southern suburbs of Arnhem, the British and Americans made a union with hard-pressed Polish reinforcements who had landed two days earlier to take some of the pressure off the Tommies in Arnhem.

The Germans were summoning every tank and trooper from northern Holland to throw into the battle for Arnhem.

(A Berlin broadcast said the fighting "will determine the fate of the whole western front," and one commentator said the British now held only the suburb of Oosterbeek. The city itself was pictured as a "smouldering ghost town.")

A press dispatch from the First army positions inside the Siegfried line—southeast of the battle for Holland—declared the Germans were feverishly digging in on the east bank of the Rhine indicating the high command foresees the collapse of fortifications to the west.

Standing at bay on their home soil, the German troops gave no indication of flight even though they finally were routed from Stolberg, the city six miles east of the Siegfried line's fortified outpost of Aachen.

Nor was there any sign of enemy weakening on the Third army front, where on the plains of Lorraine east of Nancy the biggest tank battle ever fought on French soil thundered into its fifth day. Sixty more enemy tanks were knocked out.

But as Gen. Dwight D. Einsenhower declared in a press conference at an advanced command post in France, the military position of Germany is hopeless and the length of the war depends upon how long the army can stand the terrific pounding from west, south and east and upon how long the gestapo can rule the Reich.

Eisenhower asserted the Germans could no longer mount a really effective counteroffensive, and further fighting meant only further destruction for Germany without hope of changing the outcome.

The Germans suffered another blow to their manpower in the fall of the Breton port of Brest, it was officially announced. The bag of prisoners was 36, 389, the second largest roundup

GAINS MADE ON PELELIU ISLAND

Leathernecks Now Control About Three-Fourths Of Territory

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, Sept. 23. —(AP)—Punching out new gains on Japan's strategic Peleliu in the Palau Islands 515 miles east of the Philippines, American Marines were reported by fleet headquarters today to have battled their way northward a thousand or more yards Friday and engulfed the west coast village of Garekoru.

The Leathernecks now control about three-fourths of the island.

As the Yank conquest of Peleliu quickened, even in the face of furious Japanese resistance, other Marines occupied a small unnamed island off the east coast a thousand yards north of American-held Ngabad.

The navy communique also told of widespread American aerial strikes against other Japanese island bases.

The battling in the Palau islands, chief Japanese barrier protecting the eastern approach to the Philippines, and the recent carrier plane raids on the Manila area, were underscored by a Japanese radio broadcast Saturday stating that the Philippine puppet government had declared was on the United States and Britain.

American patrol vessels sighted more and tore into seven Japanese barges Friday in a narrow channel separating Peleliu and Ngessebus islands. One barge was sunk. The others, driven onto Peleliu beaches, were destroyed by naval gunfire and bombing and strafing planes. It was not known whether the Japanese were attempting to reinforce their Peleliu defenders or to evacuate sur-

KELLEMS PROPOSES IMPEACHING COFFEE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Miss Vivien Kellems, Westport, Conn., industrialist, held a press conference today to announce that she has sent a letter to Speaker Sam Rayburn outlining changes which she asks an opportunity to prove against Rep. John M. Coffee, Democrat, Washington, for the purpose of having him impeached.

Miss Kellems handed out mimeographed copies of the letter, dated September 20. It contained seven major specifications.

Coffee last March read from the floor of the House excerpts from letters which he said Miss Kellems had written to Count Frederick Karl von Zedlitz in Buenos Aires. The count was identified at that time as a German national in the United States black list.

The energetic woman industrialist, who unsuccessfully opposed Clare Boothe Luce in the 1942 Republican congressional primary, emphasized that she enjoys no such congressional immunity from libel suits as Coffee had "when he called me a Benedict Arnold."

Miss Kellems asserted she believed "tremendous pressure was put upon the national Democratic committee to stop the Senate post office and post roads committee investigation" of the leaking of contents of censored mail.

She referred to Coffee and Drew Pearson, Washington columnist who also used excerpts from the letters, as "little New Deal stooges."

"I haven't sued Mr. Pearson—yet," she added. "But I just love law suits, particularly if I think I can win."

SWEDEN CLOSING PORTS

FARMERS ASKED TO DEFEAT ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Anti-Roosevelt Democrats, meeting here at the call of 80-year-old Sen. Ellison D. (Cotton Ed) Smith of South Carolina, concluded a two-day session today by adopting a resolution calling on farmers to "join in defeating the fourth term."

The resolution declared "a most serious situation exists in the national government and economy of our country that threatens the destruction of states rights and our American constitutional form of government." It then went on to say:

"We call upon and urge all American farmers and rural voters to join in defeating the fourth term; in smashing the vicious control of the New Dealers, Sidney Hillmans, and Communists, and in recapturing the government from the domination of un-American visionaries."

The meeting, attended by less than a dozen Democratic dissidents, late yesterday elected Senator Smith, recently defeated for renomination, as chairman and Ralph Moore, or Granger, Tex., secretary. The "National Agricultural Committee" was the name selected for themselves.

D. F. C. AWARD IS MADE LT. PARRISH

AT A 12TH AAF B-25 BASE—Award of the Distinguished Flying Cross for "extraordinary achievements while participating in aerial flight as a pilot of a B-25 type aircraft" to First Lieutenant Olan B. Parrish, 23, of West Monroe, La., is announced from Twelfth Air Force headquarters in Italy.

Lieutenant Parrish is a member of a B-25 Mitchell medium bombardment group operating in the Mediterranean theater, and is a veteran of more than 42 combat missions. He went overseas in March, 1944.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Parrish, West Monroe.

Lieutenant Parrish's B-25 Mitchell group "led in" the Allied troops assaulting southern France on "D" day with attacks on beach defenses and coastal gun positions. For eleven days preceding the assault they hammered at German defenses, along with other elements of the Tactical Air Force. It was their fourth major beach head "show" in the Mediterranean theater.

LT. MILLER HAS FIFTY MISSIONS

Local Man Reports Many Thrilling Experiences In War

FIFTEENTH AAF IN ITALY—First John T. Miller Jr., 318 Morris Ave., John T. Miller Jr., 318 Morris Aver., Monroe, La., navigator on a B-24 Liberator, recently flew his 50th mission.

Since arriving overseas last Aphil, he has participated in numerous bombing attacks on enemy airdromes, oil refineries, railroad yards and bridges in Germany, France, Austria, Hungary, Rumania and Italy. He has been awarded the Air Medal and two Oak Leaf Clusters, for "meritorious achievement during aerial flights over enemy territory."

"Our mission to Bucharest, Rumania, was the toughest though," said Lieutenant Miller, "The sky was heavy and the flak wasn't any lighter, making it very difficult to get into the target. This was just the prelude however. As we went in on the bombing run a burst of flak hit our number three engine, rendering it inoperative.

"As we left the target we were again hit by enemy aircraft fire, which knocked out our number one engine crippling us to the extent where we had to fall behind our formation, losing its much needed protective cover. Avoiding all known flak areas on a rather zig-zag course, we reached our home base. Then our third engine 'conked' out, leaving us one engine to come in on.

"To make it possible to stay aloft and make a safe landing all movable equipment had to be jettisoned. Because of further mechanical disorders, we had to reverse the field and come in down wind.

"At this point it might seem very logical to say the plane crashed in a blaze of glory. Believe it or not, our pilot made the most skillful landing I ever witnessed, saving the plane and the whole crew."

Lieutenant Miller entered the service July 30, 1942, and received his wings and commission at Selman Field, Monroe, La.

Prior to entering the service, he was an optometrist. He was graduated from Pennsylvania State College of Optometry, class of '42, where he had been the editor of the fraternity magazine. He was also graduated from Columbus High School, class of '38 where he had played varsity football and named on the all-star team as end.

Lieutenant Miller is the son of Mrs. John T. Miller, Coor Road, Columbus, Ga.

CLOTHING FOR EUROPE NEEDED

Churches Of Country To Make Collections All This Week

The church and synagogue groups of the United States, cooperating with the UNRRA, have designated the week beginning September 24 as the time for a drive to collect emergency clothing for nations of Europe recently released from Hitler domination.

Up to noon Saturday the News-Star—World had been notified of three groups where collection of clothing will be received this week. They are St. Matthew's Catholic Church, the First Methodist Church and the B'nai Israel synagogue. Other churches had not announced their plans for the collection. At St. Matthew's Church collection of clothes will be made all this week; at the First Methodist Church clothing can be brought this week to the church through the Wood street (office) entrance.

The hours are 8:30 a. m. to noon and from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. At the synagogue annex clothing can be brought Thursday and Friday, from 10 to noon and from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m.

It is explained that men, women and children are sorely in need of clothing as winter approaches. Through war-torn areas clothing is very scarce and threadbare. Because of the demands of armed forces and civilian needs, manufacture of clothing in the United States will not get underway for some time. This means that needy men, women and children in liberated countries must be given clothing from some source.

While some collections of clothing have already been made by private groups for particular countries, UNRRA must have a supply of clothing which can be sent to any liberated country where the need requires.

The religious communities of America, representing all faiths and creeds, will cooperate in an effort to collect from members and friends through the churches, parishes and synagogues, millions of pounds of clothing for men, women and children to be distributed in liberated areas.

The parish organization will comprise a group specially designated. There will then be service group such as collecting committee, th sorting committee, the packing committee and shipping committee.

With the rapid advance of the Allied armies opening up constantly broadening liberated areas, the people of th United States are faced with the huge task of giving that relief and sustin ence that must surely follow th process of liberation. This gigantic tas will not only be undertaken by th United States, but also by other Unite Nations through the internationa agency organized to carry on the wor —the United Nations Relief and Re habilitation Administration.

Archbishop Mooney, chairman o the board of trustees of war relie services, acting on behalf of the administrative board of bishops of th National Catholic Welfare Conference has pledged the whole-hearted cooperation of the N. C. W. C. in enlisting the generous support of th Catholic bishops, clergy, and laity o the United States in response to th UNRRA's appeal to the church group of America.

The goal of collection is 15 millio pounds of clothing ready for shipmen by October 7 to a network of warehouses designated by UNRRA. Th goal is to organize every parish in th country, except the Italian parishe now cooperating in the continuin clothing campaign for Italy.

OV. DAVIS HAS PROCLAMATION

ets Present Week As State Guard Enrollment Period Here

Gov. Jimmie H. Davis has issued proclamation citing the period of ptember 25 to September 30 as State ard week in Louisiana. He urges united support of the citizenry to ist a strong state guard at a time en the national guard of the state away in warfare.

The proclamation is as follows:

Whereas, during the emergency of r when the national guard of the ious states and territories of these ted States have been called into eral service and assigned to com- theaters throughout the world, the internal security of the home- d has been assigned to the state rd of each state and territory.

ow, therefore, the state guard of uisiana is declared to be a vital anization for home defense and home security. Its maintenance is foremost war-time necessity de- nding full support by every com- nity and parish throughout the state during the entire period of the present national emergency.

It is my desire that it be made known throughout the length and breadth of the state, the outstanding patriotic service now being unselfishly performed by the Louisiana state guard who receive no pay for their arduous hours of training and who are immediately available as the internal security force to protect lives and property under any conditions which may arise. This state guard is composed of men unable to meet federal standards for the armed forces because of age or physical conditions together with those patriotic youths between the ages of 18 and 21 who desire to prepare themselves prior to induction into federal forces.

To the members of the state guard I express the grateful thanks of the people of Louisiana for their devotion in this voluntary service. There is need that our people recognize more completely the service now being rendered by this outstanding group.

In order that there may be a fuller conception of the value of the state guard to the state I do hereby issue this proclamation and do declare the week of September 25 to September 30, 1944, to be "State Guard week" and I urge that this week be set aside for dissemination of information concerning and recruiting of, the Louisiana state guard and I also urge and encourage special efforts to be made through meetings and demonstrations in the various communities where these units exist, towards the end that moral, financial and other support become the concern of the people of this great state.

Witness my hand and the great seal of the state of Louisiana in my executive office in Baton Rouge, this 20th day of September in the year 1944, A. D.

Governor of Louisiana.
/s/ WADE O. MARTIN JR.,

N. J. C. ENROLLS IN NIGHT STUDY

Registration To Be Continued Through This Week

Northeast Junior College announces that approximately 200 students have been enrolled for late afternoon and evening classes. The evening school registered students for 30 classes Monday and Tuesday nights from 6:30 to 9 p. m. It was necessary to close registration to a few classes because of size. Louisiana State University Extension Division limits the size of a night school class. When the maximum number of students has been reached in a class, registration ceases. If other students want to enroll in a class, then it becomes necessary to form a new class.

Registration will continue during the week of September 25 to 30 for students interested in new classes and to fill in small classes started during the first week of registration. Students should come to Main Building Room 209, Northeast Junior College when they decide to register for evening school classes. Students may enroll in General Chemistry, Beginning English, History of Western Civilization, Shorthand, (beginning and advanced Calculus, College Algebra, Business Law, Journalism, Elementary and Intermediate Accounting, Home Building and Furnishing Project, Book News and Reviews, and Men and Women Glee Clubs.

Parish superintendents, principals of schools and students have requested N. J. C. night school officials to offer courses in Chemistry, History, English, Mathematics and Commerce. The need for teachers is very great. Many of the two-year graduates of N. J. C are teaching school in Northeast Louisiana during the 1944-45 school session. The late afternoon and evening school gives the boys and girls in Monroe and West Monroe a chance to go to school and qualify for a new vocation or profession while they are earning money. The shortage of teachers, doctors, dentists, and stenographers will continue into the period following the war. Young and old persons alike will not only do something to make life more secure for themselves but will render the schools of this state a great service by spending a few hours in classes at Northeast Junior College each week. The demand for teachers grows each year, but fewer students study to be teachers. However, the salaries now paid teachers will not justify your delay to study to be a teacher.

The teacher's salary will now rank favorably with beginning salaries in other vocations. Besides the salary increases teachers have received, they are also protected by our Louisiana State Tenure School Law. Qualified teachers will be secure in their jobs when many other less qualified persons may be unemployed after the war.

Government classes in Engineering Mathematics, Engineering Drawing, Chemistry, and Cost Accounting, will be offered free to students who have jobs in industry. A high school education, and some college work, and a little experience will qualify for one of these courses.

N. J. C. has a well qualified teacher for the Journalism class. She has had experience in the Journalism field. Many requests are being made for this course.

RODEO WILL BE HELD IN PARK

West Monroe To Have Performances; Wild Bulls To Be Feature

A championship rodeo opening on October 5th at the Brown Paper Mill Stadium, is announced. This park has been remodeled and has been made one of the outstanding arenas of its kind in the South, it is stated.

Cowboys will be on hand to give thrilling performances of their skill with Brahma bulls, Brahma roping calves and wild horses.

There will be a horse show during each performance, presenting three and five-gaited horses.

There will be a big street parade Thursday noon, October 5. Everyone is invited to enter horses and to ride in the parade. The parade is to form back of the Illinois Central Station in West Monroe.

A special feature of the rodeo will be George Tyler, the biggest bull fighting rodeo clown in America, who will fight and down the wildest bulls at every arena performance.

COL. NAIDEN RITES NOT YET ARRANGED

Definite arrangements for the funeral in Monroe of Col. Earl L. Naiden, victim of a two-engined army transport which crashed at Redmond, Ore., last Thursday, have not been completed because of the fact that the time of arrival of the body is still unknown, it was reported by his wife, Mrs. Satchie Sholars Naiden, 600 Auburn Ave., Saturday noon.

Mrs. Naiden on Friday received offical notification of the tragedy costing the life of the colonel and in which four of his staff officers lost their lives. The information came from the commanding officer stationed at Portland, Ore.

Not So Dumb Germans

American correspondents and soldiers entering villages in Germany report varying reactions by German civilians. Some are cold and aloof but a surprisingly large number are cordial and full of assurances that not 10 per cent of the population is pro-Nazi. In fact, some of the Germans fairly outdo themselves in friendliness and hospitality, serving coffee and cognac to the invaders, while one jolly burgher, fat and beaming, pinned a boutonniere on the trenchcoat of a correspondent.

It is quite likely that Allied armies will encounter a great deal of this spirit as they proceed into Germany. It will all be a part of an act, put on by cunning people who have become convinced that it may help to serve their own interests, to lighten the load of retribution soon to fall upon them. They are smart enough to know that Hitler, Goebbels, Goering and Himmler are dead ducks, that the time has come to detach themselves from the Nazi cause and to assume a new pose.

The men and women whom the correspondents and soldiers will meet as the invasion advances, accordingly, will be Germans, not Nazis. They will be good-natured, old-fashioned and disarming Germans, who have never had an evil thought, who are tolerant Christians and good neighbors. Furthermore, they always have detested Hitler and would hate the Nazis if they knew any.

It is doubtful if these rather shrewd tactics will produce the effects contemplated. For a decade the German people have been one with their fiendish leaders in steeping the world in war and misery. It is too late for a pose of innocence and an effort to disassociate themselves from the crimes of their nation.

AMERICAN CASUALTIES

Announcement by the war and navy departments that casualties among United States fighting forces have reached a total of 389,125 serves to invite closer public attention to the cost of war in human life and the suffering involved, also to interesting comparisons between this war and the last.

It is heartening to note that nothing in this war to date has approached in intensity and sustained drive those climactic last six months of the first World War, beginning at the Marne in early summer, when the German army for the second time came within inches of victory, and ending with the shattering of the Hindenburg line.

That war, with its shambles of Verdun, the senseless, futile slaughter of the Somme, the disaster of the Piave, the terrible toll of the Argonne, was a Saturnalia of death. The changed character of warfare in a quarter of a century, with armored columns bearing the impact then taken by infantry advancing in a rain of steel, together with the studied efforts of American commanders to conserve life through meticulous preparation for every advance, have had their helpful effects.

This war has produced a larger role for the navy, which has risen brilliantly to every demand, including the convoying of millions of soldiers to fighting fronts in distant parts of the world, covering landing operations in both the Atlantic and the Pacific and fighting it out with the enemy, achieving new luster as a great fighting force. Of course, it has paid heavily in casualties.

In this war, too, new heights have been reached in the efficiency of the medical service and in the saving of life through advancements in the field of medical science. The percentage of deaths among the wounded has been far lower than in 1918.

A total of 389,125 casualties, including nearly 87,000 killed, is cause for deep sorrow throughout the nation. It is low, however, in view of military achievements which have carried the war to the "sacred soil" of Germany and to within weeks of victory, as well as to the threshold of the Philippines.

POST-WAR CARTEL MENACE

Looking to the war's end, German industrialists are prepared to inaugurate widespread cartel operations as a means of regaining the dominant position they formerly held in certain areas of foreign trade. At least that is the common report.

They were responsible, before the war, for international cartels of great magnitude, which, although few in number, had the force and influence of international treaties. So, naturally, they may be expected, unless restrained, to attempt a comeback by the same methods.

Latest testimony on the subject is that given to a Senate subcommittee. Department of justice representatives present a graphic picture of German firms, operating in this country as American, but actually subservient to Hitler, standing ready, in cooperation with Argentine affiliates, to serve as bases from which to launch new industrial offensives.

The Senate hearing is preliminary to deciding what further measures than those existing should or can be taken in combating cartelization. While the United States has regarded the cartel form of organization as a breeder of war and as contrary to accepted theories of free and competitive enterprise, there are European economists who profess to believe it the only basis for reorganization of the world's post-war economy.

Cartels involve control of production through ownership of exclusive patent holdings and of raw materials entering into manufacture. Where operations are on an international scale, wide ramification of organization is necessary in which the sovereign functions of government may be usurped. In short, a cartel is a monopolistic mechanism.

The Japs are beginning to realize that when MacArthur said he would return to the Philippines, he meant he would return shooting.

Jimmie Fidler
IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—Twenty or thirty years from now, when columnists review the history of motion pictures, I believe they will point to the Bing Crosby picture, "Going My Way," as one of the most significant milestones along the way. That picture will exert a tremendous influence on movie trends for years to come.

In the first place, its great success should tear down the asinine conviction that fine movies must have big casts and lavish "production values." "Going My Way" is simple and direct, devoid of the frills and furbelows that are so dear to every producer's heart.

It has proved that theater-goers still appreciate fine moral values; that smut, double meanings and "sophisticated" dialogue are not as salable as sincerity and clean-thinking.

It has disproved the trite Hollywood theory that every picture must have a love story. It has demonstrated beyond argument that audiences are intelligent enough to enjoy un-melodramatic fare.

Undoubtedly, since there are more imitators than creative artists in Hollywood, you're going to see some bad carbon copies of "Going My Way." In fact, you may be so surfeited by them that you will be inclined to wish the original had never been filmed. But you'll benefit in the long run. Eventually, Hollywood producers will quit marveling at the profits being earned by "Going My Way," and will try to analyze the qualities that make it great.

When Tommy Dorsey, Pat Dane and Alan Smiley were summoned by the grand jury to testify regarding the brawl in which Jon Hall was beaten and slashed, each refused to testify on the ground that their statements might "degrade and incriminate" them. Of course, they acted on their attorney's advice, and the phraseology of their refusal is common legal parlance. But I can't help thinking that the word "degrade" was very aptly used. The sooner Hollywood's party hounds realize that degradation lies in the original brawling, rather than in any legal action which may ensue, the more respect they will win from the public.

The news that Hunt Stromberg will film a picture eulogizing Gen. George S. Patton amuses me. A few months ago, when the story about Patton slapping a GI made headlines, the Hollywood crowd, more excitable than run-of-the-mill Americans, was violent in condemning him. If I heard one combustible movie-lite suggest that he should be hung, I heard a score. No less than three producers considered making "topical" pictures intended to flay General Patton. The fact that today he's a hero—and justly so—should teach all of us to be slow in forming our judgments.

I don't like to be a prophet of gloom, but the announcement that Hedy Lamarr has organized her own company and will take complete charge of her career after her MGM contract expires next April strikes me as the first note in that lady's swan song. Since her arrival in this country, she has had the backing of the greatest star-building organization in the movie industry working full-tilt to sell her to the public. She has had the best directors, the best co-stars, the best advertising campaigns. If, with all that, she has failed to become more than a moderate box-office attraction, how can she hope to cut the mustard on her own. Little girls get some mighty big ideas now and then!

If you know a psychologist in need of a problem, suggest to him the "greater lover" status of Turhan Bey. For months, the ladies of Hollywood saw this homme fatale in pictures and met him socially without generating a single goose pimple. Then a clever publicist began to plant stories—most of them phony—about Turhan's romantic life. Presto! Overnight, nine-tenths of our beauties decided to join his harem. He has become the lion of the hour, the great than which-there-is-no-whicher. If I know glamour girls—and heaven help me, I think I do—most of them are more intrigued by his publicity than by Bey.

George Raft was hailed into police court the other day because, having been arrested for doing 50 miles per hour in a 25-mile zone, he told the arresting officer what he thought of policemen in general. As punishment I suggest that he be forced to listen while the cop tells him what he thinks of actors in general.

BY HENRY McLEMORE

By Mrs. Henry McLemore

"Dear Jeanie:

"I've bragged to you about how handy I was going to be when I got home. I'm afraid I'll have to change that statement and simply say I will be a little more handy than I was. At least now I try to do things, which is more, I'll admit, than I ever did at home. I wish now that I'd paid a little more attention to Manual Training classes in school. The only thing I ever finished in Manual Training was a breadboard which looked like a ski run. Only a piece of bread that hadn't finished worse than third in the Winter Olympics would dare to get on my ski-board bread board.

"At the beginning of the semester I made a——well, why lie about it now——I made a mess of everything. I am the only man I have ever known who was drummed out of Manual Training.

"While the other boys chiseled away at their bookcases, I was chiseling too. Forgive me, dear Manual Training teacher. How I wish you were here now. Don't think if I had an apple I wouldn't polish it up and bring it to you. To be honest if I had an apple I would eat it.

"You have to learn to improvise in this army out here. What you can't get, you make. What you can't make, you don't get.

"I spent a great deal of my day trying to make a pair of wooden clogs to wear when I went down to the beach. I made them out of abandoned ration cases, and cut up a worn-out legging for a strap across the instep. It took me three hours to whittle them out to where they slightly resembled a foot. When I finished them I put them on. There isn't a Chinaman living, and they were all brought up on clogs, who could have walked on them.

"Honey, only you could have appreciated what those clogs were like when they were finished.

"The blocks under one foot tilted me forward, and the blocks under the other foot tilted me backwards. I walked, to use the words of a mess sergeant, like a cow on a crutch. But they keep my feet out of the mud, when I don't fall down and get my face in the mud, and feet are what count in the infantry.

"Jeanie, I guess there is no end of my dexterity. Today I also made myself some T-bars to hang my mosquito net on. After I had built them and nailed them to the ends of my cot, I found I had made them so tall that the net which hung from them didn't reach my bed by a good foot, leaving nothing to tuck in except all the insects which very quickly joined me.

"Today I am feeling fine except I am bitten from the soles of my feet to the top of my head by the insects that slept with me last night. But, furthermore, I have stone bruises on both of my feet from those cloggety-clog-clogs. At my age—stone bruises!

"We are simple soldier folks here and the more food and letters we get, the better we like it.

"All my love,
"HENRY."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Sunday School Lesson for Oct. 1
Text: John 9:1-7; 13-34-41
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

With this lesson we begin a quarter-year study of "Light from Christ for Life Today," and the aim of the quarter's lessons is "through a study of principles revealed in the Bible to learn Christian ways of solving social problems."

Christian principles and ways begin with Christ, and that is where our lessons start—with the mature Christ in the very height of His ministry, surrounded by earnest disciples to whom He expounds and exemplifies the meaning of the Christian way.

At the outset we are met with a strange and uncompromising challenge—the story of the man born blind to whom Jesus gave sight. But greater than the story is the Master himself, and the real heart of the lesson is in the Golden Text, John 8-12, "I am the light of the world; he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life."

Could words be more challenging? A teacher who speaks in that way is either all that he claims to be; or he is an impostor, or at best a victim of delusions of grandeur. The Master did not speak boastfully, or as false messians have spoken. He preached and practiced humility, setting the disciples an example by washing their feet, and asserting the law of service through love as the highest law of life.

It was no delusion of grandeur that inspired the Master, but the consciousness of tulfilling the Father's will. When the Master spoke of himself as the light of the world, and as the way, the truth, and the life, it was not in terms of any earthly greatness He never claimed to be a superman. He claimed only to be a minister of God to men. To the woman of Samaria at Jacob's well He said, "My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work" (John 4:34.)

So when Jesus says He is the light of the world we must interpret these words in the light of His character and mission; and after 20 centuries we can test His words in the light of history. Where else in all the world has there been such a light-giver? Where else can we turn from a world of sin, and turmoil, and strife, and cruelty, and see the revelation of a different world—of righteousness, and love, and peace? What a different world we should have if men had listened to the Master and accepted the light and life He came to bring!

But what of the lives that He has lighted? The blind man had his physical sight restored, but what of the millions whose hearts and minds have been enlightened through the Light of the World!

It is only in modern times that man has explored the nature and the many functions of light. We now know that light is composed of various rays, important for growth and healing as well as for sight. And all that the light of the sun and man-created light are to the body, Christ, the Light of the world, is to the soul.

Holman Hunt, in his famous painting, pictured Christ as the man with the lantern, knocking at the door overgrown with vines. If the dors of our hearts are thus overgrown, we must first clear the door and throw it open to let the Light of the World come in.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
(Monroe Morning World Washington Correspondent)

Unfortunately for the voter in this or any other political campaign, there are two kinds of honesty. The first is honesty, the second is political honesty. The observation is not new, but it is again timely.

The trick of being just politically honest consists of making statements which are true as far as they go but do not tell the whole truth, or are conclusions or place wrong emphasis on any given set of facts. Under the double standard of political morals this is not considered being dishonest. It is merely considered being politically smart.

For instance, it is politically honest to say that U. S. National income is higher today than it has ever been in American history. Farm income is greater, wages of labor are higher, profits before taxes are bigger. But to imply from these statements that the country is now more prosperous and on a sounder financial basis than it has ever been, with the living standard higher than ever before, is politically dishonest. Higher national income is being attained only by greater government borrowing, by increasing the national debt, by increasing government spending for materials of war. The higher national income argument therefore falls of its own weight if it be raised as a reason for continuing the Democratic party in office.

Dewey Does It, Too

No one party or no one candidate, however, as any monopoly on political dishonesty. For years, the critics of President Roosevelt have writhed at what they considered the political dishonesty of many of the New Deal objectives, the Four Freedoms, the Atlantic Charter, the present emphasis upon the president's perfectly constitutional position as commander in chief, the disavowal of there being political significance to so many of his activities. And evidence is piling up that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is just as much of an old master at this sort of thing as anybody else.

When the governor busted into the Dumbarton Oaks post-war security planning by attacking rumored proposals as domination of smaller nations by the Big Four powers, he was being entirely politically honest. At the time, however, he gave no indication he knew—if he did know—that Secretary of State Cordell Hull had insisted agreement among the Big Four was first requisite to later cooperation with smaller countries. Hull, if he had wanted to, might have shown the governor up as being not too well informed on what he was trying to talk about. To save the conference from being dragged into politics, Hull refrained from this, and instead invited Dewey to send his foreign policy adviser Foster Dulles to get a fill-in on what went on. Dewey in effect thus became a partner in post-war planning and he can claim part credit for any Dumbarton accomplishments. This is smart politics, but not what you would call hundred per cent cross your heart and hope to die honest.

Don't Let Them Fool You

You can reduce to similar absurdities the charges by Dewey that Roosevelt did nothing to prepare the American people for war, and that War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes' plans for demobilization are six months too late. Memory seems to whisper with a shout that four years ago the Republicans were lambasting this fellow Roosevelt for being a war monger, for wanting to build 50,000 airplanes a year, for wanting to drag this country into another unholy European war. And if six months ago, you had asked Dewey or the Republicans for their blueprint of demobilization, all you would have drawn is a vacant stare.

There isn't anything morally wrong with this kind of political dishonesty. Roosevelt has been charged with dishing out the same line for years. The intelligent voter, however, won't let either of these big boys fool him for a minute.

INTENSIVE DRIVE MAPPED BY DEWEY

EN ROUTE WITH DEWEY TO OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Obviously heartened by what one of his aides described as the "accelerating progress" of his campaign, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today mapped an intensive drive through the Midwest and New England after winding up his Pacific Coast tour.

The Republican presidential candidate sped toward Oklahoma City tonight for the last of seven major broadcasts on his current 6,200-mile transcontinental tour. With him he carried the best wishes of California's Gov. Earl Warren, who introduced him as "our next president" to 90,000 cheering persons in Los Angeles' Memorial Coliseum last night. It was by far the biggest crowd of Dewey's trip.

After delivering the last of his current series of talks in Oklahoma City Monday night, the New York governor plans to go directly to Albany to catch up on state business before setting out again in quest of the important Middle West and "Down East" votes.

Dewey arose early this morning in Los Angeles, not visibly fatigued by a continuous round of conferences and speaking that occupied virtually every moment of the preceding day.

He entered immediately into a new series of conferences which occupied him until almost train time. The governor met with a group of 35 labor representatives, and, as spokesman for the group said, assured them he believed the National Labor Relations act should be continued. Assemblyman John C. Lyons, chairman of the labor group, said Dewey added that he saw no need of national legislation restricting labor.

INJURY FATAL

curred Thursday night as Goza was walking along the Winnsboro road on his way home from Frank Ticheli's store. His home is across the highway from the Delta Club.

Mr. Goza is survived by five sons, R. B. Goza, Pine Bluff, Rufus J. Goza and R. A. Goza, Monroe, T. R. Goza, West Monroe, and D. B. Goza, serving in the United States navy; a brother, J. A. Goza, McComb, Miss.; and a sister, Mrs. Annie Vaughan, Mississippi.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Davis-Lawhead Funeral Home chapel with the Rev. Roger Johnson, pastor of the Central Baptist Church, officiating. Interment will follow in Riverview Burial Park.

Pallbearers will be Bert Coverdale, E. M. Steen, Stanley Hodges, Dean Farr, Frank Cline, and R. O. Ware.

DAVIS TO AWARD CLUBBER TROPHIES

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Gov. James H. Davis announced today that he would award three "governor's trophies" to outstanding members of Louisiana 4-H Clubbers and Future Farmers, to be presented at the state livestock show to be held at Louisiana State University in April, 1945.

Davis said he was making the awards "in recognition of the work done by these organizations and to stimulate greater interest in agriculture and live stock for the state of Louisiana."

W. C. Abbott, state 4-H Club leader, announced today the rules for 4-H candidates to qualify for the governor's trophy: All members enrolled in baby beef, dairy calf, and pig projects may compete and only those members exhibiting their livestock at both the district and state shows are eligible.

VETERANS ASK FOR FARM ASSISTANCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Hundreds of veterans of this war have applied to the farm security administration for financial assistance in re-establishing themselves on farms but lack of FSA funds has necessitated the rejection of some of the requests, the FSA said today.

In addition, the rising value of land in some states has prevented FSA from making more than a few loans to help veterans buy farms, it added, because farm purchase loans are made only for farms that are priced on the basis of the long-time earning capacity of the land.

NEW YORK—Diary: Reading, hal the night, an advance copy of "Raymond L. Ditmars," by Miss Laur Wood, to be published in October b Messner. . . . An interesting boo about a great man and the animal he spent a useful life-time introducin to the American people. Since th book is a selection of the Junior Literary Guild, and received a children' literature award, I suppose it wa written primarily for young people But its appeal should be to all ages And especially to all who like animals.

The Lowell Thomas speaking technique has been so successful that i has inspired many imitators, and ther are voice culturists and coaches wh frankly train likely pupils to "talk lik Thomas." . . . Spike Hunt's book abou General MacArthur is, in my opinio one of the best of the war biographie Hunt (Frazer Hunt in formal language) is an old friend of the general's. . . . The book has drawn criticism from supporters of the curren Palace Guard in Washington, becaus it intimates that the general has no received the enthusiastic support the commander in chief at all time in the conduct of the war again Japan. . . . But what changes as fa as a Palace Guard personnel? Well, l us say, the colors of an Arizona sunrise. . . . I see that Bill Bullit, o palsy-walzy of the C-in-C has turne on Darling Joe Stalin and told son truths about the Communist reach f world empire and domination of t lives of all men, in his excellent article, 'The World From Rome," in Li Magazine for September 5. I'm late reading it, but find it immensely in structive and revealing. I hope Bull will enlarge it into a book.

I heard a radio commentator ca Bullit "Mr. William C. Bulletin" t other day . . . but that isn't as bad the half dozen who say dizgustin dizorganized and dizavowal. Such sil silly and easily remedied mispronu ciations are unforgivable in a publ talker, and so are milit'ry, secret' and, above all, sacrifiss or sacrifu for sacrifice. Politicians nearly alwa address "Ladies and Gentlemun," b we don't look for common sense correctness in most politicians.

The earthquake that jarred N York and other eastern states a sh time ago resulted in a laughable er in one newspaper. The reporters all the papers rushed up to Fordh to get the story of the quake from t institution's seismologist, Rev. Jose J. Lynch.

Father Lynch explained to the r porters that the quake was caused a slip in the earth's crust along line known as Logan's Fault, nam for Sir William Logan, the geolog who traced it. He then jokingly r marked that it was ready Dewe fault, he surmised, referring to Ca didate Dewey's opening of his ca paign that same day and the circu stance that Dewey's home is on t fault line.

One newspaper, whose reporter m have missed some of the talk, seriou ly reported on page one that t quake was caused by a slip Dewey's fault.

Mr. and Mrs. Carveth Wells have bird that talks, whistles sings a apparently reasons. I think I'll ha to go up and interview that bird post-war plans and the election. might just possibly have some ide and everybody else has already his notions into print.

Almost any afternoon in autu you can walk out in the street arou a crowd that jams the sidewalk front of St. Bartholomew's chur on Park avenue. There are m weddings at the Little Church Arou the Corner, but they don't attract s big crowds.

ALUMNI URGING PAID SECRETARY

Tech Group Discusses Plan To Have Full Time Officer

RUSTON, La., Sept. 23.—(Special) —Consideration of employing a professional alumni executive secretary at Louisiana Tech highlighted a meeting of the board of directors of the college's alumni associating in the private dining room of the dining hall on the campus. J. Melton Oakes of Homer, president of the Tech alumni, presided.

It is the plan of the alumni associating to memorialize a professional executive secretary and to "provide necessary money for financing," according to minutes of the meeting prepared by Miss Helen Woodard, acting secretary.

H. G. Robinson of Homer was appointed by President Oakes to present the matter of the professional secretary to the association at its meeting on Homecoming day at Tech, Oct. 14, at 10:30 a. m.

Officers and members of the board of directors to be elected at the meeting on Homecoming day include a president and vice-president and 12 directors. Although a nominating committee was appointed, any Tech alumnus is invited to submit names for any of the offices to the acting secretary, Miss Woodard, in the Teacher-Training building at Tech, it was reported.

While alumni leaders at Tech are taking the initiative in securing the services of a professional secretary in the future, President Oakes named a committee to present at the October meeting the name of a man, a Tech graduate and a Tech faculty member, to be considered by the association for secretary of the alumni association for the present school year.

Dr. Claybrook Cottingham, Tech president, was asked by the alumni president to present at the October meeting the matter of observance of Tech's 50th anniversary in the fall of 1945, it was reported.

A committee was appointed to draft a resolution in tribute to the memory of D. G. Armstrong, former Tech alumni secretary, deceased. The resolution will be presented to the alumni at their business meeting on Homecoming day.

It was voted by the directors that "the alumni association appropriate $50 for prizes for floats if it is decided to make use of floats in the homecoming celebration."

of Rimini, its Adriatic bolt position. A blitzkrieg invasion of the Po valley was imminent," to bring Allied liberation of all Italy and a swift Allied junction with the Russians in the Balkan peninsula in sight. A Nazi flight from Crete, the islands of the Aegean and the Peleponnesus if not all Greece, Albania and southern Yugoslavia was creditably reported.

The potentials of a Russian-Allied trap that could turn the Balkan peninsula into a prison camp or death scene for cut-off German forces were too clearly apparent to be ignored by Berlin. That had already happened in Estonia, the Baltic states, and in western Holland. It was on the verge of happening to Nazi lost legions in Finland and northern Norway.

The whole vast sweep of western industrial Germany was close under Allied guns as well as air attack from the Rhine delta to the Vosges. The last German abandoned garrisons in Brittany and Belgium were being blasted into submission. A Russian steam-roller in the Baltic states was grinding Nazi resistance to powder. In western Holland another 100,000 or so Nazis were no less hopelessly trapped.

To cap all these actual and potential military disasters for the foe there came from the Allied advanced posts on German soil in the west toward the week-end press intimations of slumping civilian morale within the Reich itself.

genthau plan to Prime Minister Churchill at Quebec. Mongenthau and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden were present. Stimson and Hull were not.

Morgenthau came away from the conference with the impression that Churchill found his proposals acceptable, especially since Eden is reported to have held somewhat similar views.

What Premier Stalin plans with respect to Germany apparently still is not known here. Morgenthau based his plan on three assumptions with respect to Russia: (a) Russia wants East Prussia and most of Silesia to go to Poland to offset Poland's loss of eastern territory to the Soviet Union; (b) Russia wants German labor battalions put to work on the Soviet Union reconstruction; (c) with her own huge needs for manpower, Russia is not interested in prolonged military occupation of Germany and would be willing to have Britain, the United States and other Allied countries do the job.

Secretary Hull is known to be determined that whatever plan is decided on finally here must be agreeable to Russia. He feels that it is essential to have British-American-Soviet cooperation in immediate post-war Europe as a basis for long-range cooperation in a world security organization.

Morgenthau's plan as understood by those who have followed its development from the first to provide:

1. Removal from Germany to devastated countries of whatever industrial machinery those countries want; destruction of the west of Germany's industry.
2. Permanent closing of whatever mines remain in the territory of the post-war German state.
3. Cession of the Saar and western German industrial areas to France as well as cession to Poland of eastern German areas which Russia might want handled that way.
4. Dissolution of large German landholdings into small farms which would enable the 40 to 50 million people remaining in Germany to exist largely on an agricultural basis.
5. Refusal by other countries to extend any assistance, economic or otherwise, to the people of Germany so that they would have to make their own way as best they could out of the wreckage of their war on Europe.
6. Prolonged control of Germany by an Allied or United Nations military commission.
7. No outright reparations—since a German agricultural state with little or no commerce would not be able to pay them—although distribution of German machinery might be considered as reparations in some respects.

The principal criticisms which have been leveled against this plan by war and state department planners is that it will not work because Germany occupies a key position in European economy due to her industrial capacity to produce needed goods and because of the markets she affords other European countries.

Until Morgenthau dropped his proposals in the hopper and won presidential support for them it had been tentatively planned that Germany would be permitted to function as an industrial state after surrender but under Allied military and economic controls that would deny her any opportunity to become a great war-making state.

To date Morgenthau's plan has served chiefly as a basis for hot arguments in the secret sessions of war, state, treasury and other government agency experts charged with evolving practical controls for the Reich of the future. It has been instrumental also in bringing about modifications of the basic handbook being prepared by the government for the guidance of military administrators in post-war Germany.

Post-war Germany is defined by these experts as the German state which will come into existence sometime after the armistice. The first period of German occupation already is beginning with the advance of Allied armies onto German soil. It was with this period in mind that General Dwight D. Eisenhower as Allied supreme commander yesterday announced the directives for control of Germany by Allied combat commanders.

It now is expected here that Eisenhower will serve as American military chief in the Reich until the second period of occupation sets in after the war but whether that period will be one of three-way occupation under a three-power commission as originally planned or whether it will follow the Morgenthau plan more closely evidently now remains to be determined.

Morgenthau always has been regarded by his associates as an advocate of ruthless handling of Germany after the war. His interest in detailed planning, however, is reported to stem from his trip to England and France a month and a half ago.

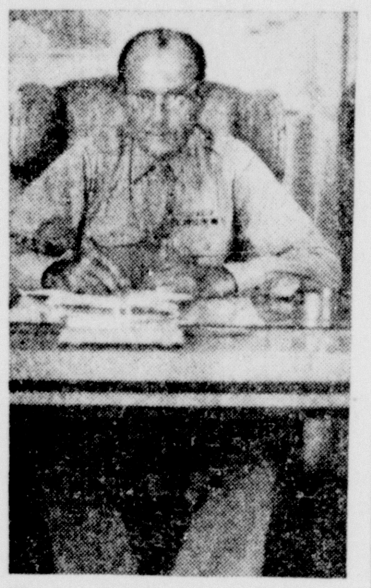
At that time he became convinced that total victory in Europe probably would be achieved relatively soon and the need for decisions on German policy was urgent. Among top British officials he found three broad theories of what ought to be done. One school, reportedly including Foreign Secretary Eden, favored ruthless handling; a second, with an eye to Germany's future place in possible European power politics, favored an easy peace to result in a reconstructed but controlled German state; the third sought some compromise between these two extremes.

In London also Morgenthau came upon the draft of a booklet designed to instruct Allied Military government officers in handling German affairs once the Reich is completely occupied. One paragraph of this booklet prescribed a daily food allowance for the Germans with a calory value higher than that allowed for the friendly peoples of liberated countries.

On returning to Washington the treasury secretary reported this fact to Mr. Roosevelt who thereupon wrote Secretary Stimson directing that the handbook be written to incorporate provisions for a tough handling of Germany. He also created the cabinet committee.

Those familiar with the work of the committee say that thus far its work has shown no ground for a meeting of minds between Stimson and Morgenthau as to the policy to be followed, beyond the fact that both agree, as does Mr. Hull, that, by whatever means, Germany must be rendered unable to make war in future.

PROVINCIAL CHIEF



Shown above is Lt. Col. Bridger Thornhill, of Monroe, with the army of occupation in Italy and who is now serving in the important capacity of provincial commissioner in the province of Frosinone, Italy. This province has a population of 500,000 and is perhaps the most devastated area in all Italy, Casino being located in that area. He has served 12 months overseas. In World War One he served 27 months and in this war has already served approximately three years. In Monroe, in times past, he served as assistant district attorney. His friends here are already talking of persuading him to make the race for district judge which will be vacated in January by Judge Frank Hawthorne, when the latter assumes a state supreme court judgeship.

RUSSIAN TROOPS

capture of Parnu, Estonia's second port, a few hours after Berlin radio said that the Red army had begun a "major attack" near the Hungarian-annexed Transylvania capital of Cluj aimed at trapping all Axis troops in eastern Hungary and Slovakia.

Moscow dispatches also said that an entry into pre-war Hungary was imminent, and an unconfirmed French radio broadcast said the Red army already had crossed the Hungarian border and was "advancing in the direction of Budapest," Magyar capital.

The fall of Parnu represented another 50-mile leap by Marshal Leonid A. Govorov's Leningrad army forces in 24 hours. The port, at the northeastern end of the Gulf of Riga 97 miles north of the Latvian capital of Riga, lies 50 miles southwest of Paide, junction city taken Friday by Russian units which cut toward the gulf while other forces seized Tallinn.

Govorov's troops were engaged in a race to envelop scores of thousands of beaten Germans routed amid the lakes and forests of Estonia and who are fleeing toward the imperilled Riga corridor.

West of Valga, 87 miles northeast of shell-torn Riga, the Germans admitted the Russians were nearing the Gulf of Riga after scoring a "deep penetration" in their double effort to block the escape of the Germans streaming down the Baltic coast from northern Estonia. Battles of "tremendous violence" are going on between Valga and the Gulf of Riga, Berlin said.

In the Gulf of Finland, off Tallinn, Soviet minesweepers went into action, clearing a path for the Red Baltic fleet emerging from an uneasy three-year sleep in its Kronstadt lair near Leningrad. The capitulation of Finland and the reconquest of the north Estonian coast opened up the gulf to the fleet.

Russian sappers also went to work on the graveyard of German ships sunk in Tallinn harbor. Berlin declared it would be a matter of weeks before the Russians could use the port.

The liberation of Estonia appeared to be only a quick mop-up job now that German resistance has collapsed in the north and the enemy is running to the few little west coast ports for evacuation by ship, or turning southward toward Riga, harried by Soviet fighter planes.

A Polish communique from the Warsaw underground said Russian troops crossing the Vistula river from captured Praga had reached the Warsaw side and that "heavy fighting is going on in sectors of the western bank where Soviet units are landing."

Polish guerrillas are attacking the Germans from the rear, the bulletin said.

In Romania the Russian and Romanian troops under Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky attacked toward Cluj and Targu-Mures, important communication cities, on a 55-mile front curving eastward from the transylvanian capital to Targu-Mures, and then northward to Reghin, a German broadcast said.

Far to the west other powerful Soviet units were drawn up on a 60-mile front close to the Hungarian border and there were no natural Axis defenses to stop them from smashing across the frontier in an enveloping movement on Szeged, Hungary's second city, and other important rail cities controlling German-Hungarian escape routes out of northern Transylvania.

Lt. Col. Alfred von Olberg, German transocean agency commentator, warned that a Soviet "mass entry into Slovakia" from southern Poland was to be expected in conjunction with the slashing Russian attacks on the lower arm of the big pincers movement.

FAMED GRECIAN WILL LECTURE

Andre Michalopoulos Will Address Town Hall On October 3

The Monroe Town Hall will open its fall season at the Ouachita Parish High School auditorium, Monday, October 3 at 8 p. m. when Andre Michalopoulos, former Greek minister of information, will be the speaker. He will discuss "The Great Democracies and the Balkan-Mediterranean Nations." It is assured that no more important European dignatary has come to America for the express purpose of addressing the American people since the start of the present war. Six feet two, forty-six years old, a born orator and polished gentleman, is how he is described. He was shot down twice, torpedoed twice, was a soldier in World War I, has been bombed and machine gunned.

He's led a charmed life in spite of the fact that he has repeatedly tempted the fates . . . put himself time after time in the path of peril for his country—as soldier, as government official and as spokesman for the oppressed peoples of Europe. He must be high up on the Nazi blacklist!

Andre Michalopoulas, stateman, scholar, author, and orator, was born in 1897. At the age of 11, in September, 1908, his adventures began . . . when he made an ascent over France in a spherical balloon. A month later—on October 7—he became the first passenger that Wilbur Wright took up in new-fangled flying machine. The place was Le Mans, France, and the flight—4 minutes, 54 seconds—was a record up to that time.

In 1916 when Michalopoulos was at Oxford, he interrupted his studies to join the Greek army in Salonika. He became private secretary to Prime Minister Venizelos the following year, and in 1918 was appointed civil governor of the islands of the North Aegean—Lemnos, Imbros, Tenedos and Samothrace. A year later he resumed his studies at Oxford, graduating in 1920 and rejoining Venzelos as private secretary 1821 when he accompanied the prime minister on a nine month's tour of the United States, Central and South America.

It was in the winter of 1922-23 that he attended the peace conference, held in Lausanne, Switzerland, to settle Near Eastern affairs. And it was there that he had the satisfaction of watching the statesmanship and good-will of Venizelos and Ismet Pasha of Turkey result in a pact of lasting friendship between Greece and Turkey.

After serving as governor of Corfu and adjacent islands from 1924 to 1925, Michalopoulos left public life for business. He was managing director of Athens Waterworks Corporation from the time of its foundation. This was a Greek-American concern; American engineers built the modern waterworks of Athens, including a unique all-marble dam. Mr. Michalopoulos was also connected with the great American irrigation works in Macedonia.

He was actively engaged in the administration of many mining, industrial, banking and air line corporations in Greece at the outbrake of the Greco-Italian war, but, patriot that he is, he promptly put his country first and his business interests second. Nightly, while the war was at its height, he broadcast a fifteen-minute news commentary in English from Athens and in April, 1941, he left Athens to join the Greek forces in Crete. En route his ship was torpedoed—but this was only the beginning.

He arrived in Crete when the battle was reaching a crescendo . . . got a view of offense and defense from the air. With the fall of Crete imminent, the government decided Michalopoulos was much too valuable to the Greek cause to allow him to risk his neck in this fashion and dispatched him on a special mission to Egypt—to organize Greek resistance in the Middle East. After successfully establishing the national committee of Greeks in Egypt, of which he was secretary-general, he flew to South Africa where he delivered a series of broadcasts and lectures on the Greek campaign.

Michalopoulos arrived in London with the Greek government in exile in September, 1941 and there accepted a cabinet appointment—minister of information, which post he held until May, 1943. It was in this capacity that he returned to the United States in July, 1942, to remain six months.

When Michalopoulos left government service recently he did so because he was convinced that at this point in the world struggle he could operate more effectively for Greece and the other oppressed peoples of Europe if he were not limited by the reticences imposed by official position.

VETERAN PRINTER EXPIRES AT ALEX

ALEXANDRIA, La., Sept. 23.—(AP)—John R. Senseney, 83, dean of central Louisiana printers, native of Lexington, Va., died here last night.

The Senseneys were neighbors of Gen. Robert E. Lee and Mr. Senseney often told of riding General Lee's horse when he was a boy. He took his first job in a print shop in 1877 at $1 a week. He was employed by the Town Talk for the past 38 years.

Mr. Sensency promoted development of poultry in Louisiana and won blue ribbons in exhibitions in all parts of the country, including Madison Square Garden, New York, and Chicago.

His wife and one granddaughter survive.

27 NAZI PLANES ARE DESTROYED

Glider-Towing Transports Deliver Men And Supplies To Front

LONDON, Sept. 23.—(AP)—At least 27 German planes were destroyed in a series of dogfights over Holland today as a great armada of American and British glider-towing transports delivered thousands of fresh troops and supplies to help efforts to relieve the "lost division" in the Arnhem area.

The transports flew through blinding flak to accomplish their mission.

The daring trip was carried out in the late afternoon with the aid of a sudden break in the weather. The German radio later warned that night bombers, which had been held back for several days by weather, were over the Reich again.

Observers accompanying the airborne reinforcements described it as one of the most dramatic of any of the week's numerous leap-frogging operations to land among the dykes and windmills.

First reports regarding enemy air opposition were somewhat confusing. A special announcement from supreme headquarters of the Allied expeditionary force mentioned "strong opposition from the ground and in the air," while one observer reported he saw only one Nazi plane.

Recalling the desperate effort the luftwaffe made to break up the last glider convoy to the Netherlands—with the loss of 20 Allied planes—it is probable that a much stronger escort was employed today.

Probably today's escort numbered well over 1,000 fighter planes.

While this force was out, a sizeable fleet of R. A. F. Mitchell and Boston bombers based in France joined in the battle for bomb-scarred Calais by striking at two strong points almost at the water's edge in that city. The returning crews said their bombs straddled positions to which the Germans were clinging hopelessly with their backs to the sea.

The Mediterranean-based forces, which have been hitting Hungary and Yugoslavia daily, struck in medium strength at industrial targets in Sudetenland, Rome announced, and also hit railway yards in southern Austria and seven bridges in northeastern Italy.

It was announced also that Mitchell bombers had found the Italian cruiser Taranto at the port of La Spezia and left her burning fiercely from three attacks. The 3,184-ton vessel was in a position to be used as a block ship.

The Sudetenland targets were bombed through intense antiaircraft fire, overcast and a smoke screen, so that results were not observed. Good results were reported, however, on the Austrian rail yards.

From Cairo is was announced that the R. A. F. set fire to a 1,000-ton vessel at Samos Island in the continuing campaign to hamper or prevent German evacuation of the Aegean Islands

In Germany fires still burned in the Kassel and Munich industrial areas as results of Friday's heavy attacks by 1,200 American heavy bombers from the south and west.

Delayed reports summarizing Friday's activities by the U. S. Ninth air force fighter bombers based in France said more than 200 tons of bombs were unloaded on German transport and other targets in the Cologne, Koblenz and Trier areas, with 259 railway cars destroyed or damaged, 19 locomotives and 13 tanks or tracked vehicles hit, and 18 buildings, including an arsenal, successfully bombed.

Credit for surrender of one of the main strongpoints at Boulogne before the fall of that port to the Canadians was give nto R. A. F. rocket-firing planes that attacked it a few nights ago.

of the enemy in the battle of France.

The fighting in Holland, however, was an indication of the German will to resist.

Hundreds of Hitler's soldiers died in their tracks rather than retreat as the British Second army fought up opposite Arnhem. The Tommies traveled over a road where fighting still raged on both sides and where the Germans often were close enough to sweep it with Artillery.

The base of operations at Eindhoven was widened a mile or so on both sides, with the British advancing well beyond Vessen, eight miles to the west.

A Dutch government spokesman said the Germans had flooded the entire western stretch of Holland from Amsterdam 70 miles south through Utrecht and Breda, isolating the big city of Rotterdam.

This broad flood zone, which the Dutch estimated would ruin the soil for cultivation for the next ten years, covered the retreat of the Germans pulling out of northwestern Belgium across the Schelde river.

Radio Orange, free Netherlands station in London, reported the Germans were preparing to destroy the great harbor works at Amsterdam.

The Canadian First army wiped out the last German positions south of the Loepold canal and pressed enemy remnants into a narrow strip 28 miles long on the south bank of the Schelde from Zeebrugge eastward to Terneuzen.

Doughboys of the First army who conquered Stolberg after four days of sanguinary street fighting found the city a smoking ruins from days of shelling.

5 APPOINTMENTS ARE ANNOUNCED

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Secretary of state records today showed five appointments which included Charlie Schwartz of Kentwood and Fletcher Smith of Franklinton as members of the Louisiana milk commission.

Other commission were issued to Dick Ables as president and Elliott Milton as a member of the board of supervisors of elections at Livingstone parish and Mrs. Jim Perkins as registrar of voters, West Feliciana parish.

President Roosevelt receives between 3,500 and 4,000 letters every day.

PRESIDENT

which seems to annoy some people, in fact, millions of us are more than 11 years older than when we started in to clear up the mess that was dumped into our laps in 1933."

From that he launched into an attack upon the Republican campaign, although he did not mention Governor Dewey by name.

He termed a "callous and brazen falsehood" an assertion that the administration plans "to keep men in the army when the war is over, because there might be no jobs for them in civil life."

"Why," Mr. Roosevelt continued, "the very day that this fantastic charge was first made, a formal plan for the method of speedy discharge of the army had already been announced by the war department—a plan based upon the wishes of the soldiers themselves.

Mr. Roosevelt said Republican leaders have carried the attacks against his administration even down to "include my little dog Fala. Unlike the members of my family, he resents this."

The president said as soon as Fala heard that "Republican fiction writers" had made public a story that the dog was left behind in the Aleutians during the President's Pacific tour and had to be rescued by a destroyer at a cost of $20,000,000 "his Scotch soul was furious. He has not been the same dog since. * * * I think I have a right to object to libelous statements about my dog."

Turning serious again, the president said the nation's military leaders are not helped by men who "without responsibility and without knowledge of the facts, lecture the chiefs of staff of the United States as to the best means of dividing our armed forces and our military resources between the Atlantic and the Pacific, between the army and the navy, and among the commanding generals of the different theaters of war."

Replying to Governor Dewey's repeated charge that the administration has been unable to solve unemployment, the president said the keynote of his entire reconversion program can be found in the word "jobs."

He said the government will lease or dispose or plants and facilities on the basis of how they can be used best to give jobs to the greatest number, asserting:

"We shall follow a wage policy that will sustain the purchasing power of labor—for that means more production and more jobs. * * *

"This is not the time in which men can be forgotten as they were in the Republican catastrophe which we inherited. The returning soldiers, the workers by their machines, the farmers in the field, the miners, the men and women in offices and shops do not intend to be forgotten."

He accused Republican leaders of bringing into the campaign the "propaganda technique invented by the dictators abroad * * * that technique You should never use a small falsehood; always a big one, for its very fantastic nature will make it more credible if only you keep repeating it over and over again."

Republicans leaders, he said, now are asking the country to forget what they used to say about preparations for defense and for the war itself.

"There are enlightened, liberal elements in the Republican party and they have fought hard and honorably to bring the party up to date and get it in step with the forward march of American progress," he said. "But these liberal elements were not able to drive the old guard Republicans from their entrenched positions."

Then, accusing the opposition of trying to take over credit for the social progress of his own administration, Mr. Roosevelt asked "Can the old guard pass itself off as the New Deal?"

"I think not.

"We have all seen many marvelous stunts in the circus but no performing elephant could turn a handspring without falling flat on his back."

Mr. Roosevelt poked fun at the Republican platform plank which he said "accepts the purpose" of the national labor relations act, the wage and hour act, the social security act and other federal social laws, declaring:

"Many of the Republican leaders and congressmen and candidates who shouted enthusiastic approval of that plank * * * would not even recognize these progressive laws, if they met them in broad daylight."

He said that as a matter of fact they have spent years of energy and money "fighting every one of those laws."

Mr. Roosevelt said there are "labor baiters" in his opposition who prefer to "pick on the occasional strikes which have occurred—strikes which have been condemned by every responsible national labor leader, every national leader except one."

"And that one labor leader, incidentally," he said, "is certainly not among my supporters."

The president used no name in that connection but his reference obviously was to John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president, who is a fourth-term opponent.

"Labor baiters forget," he said, "the record of war production and prefer to concentrate on the strikes, even though "the fact is that since Pearl Harbor only one-tenth of one per cent of man hours have been lost by strikes."

The president took his listeners back to 1932, a period he described in these words:

"Closed banks and the bread lines and starvation wages."

He said some politicians find it convenient to forget that period, "but the record is not to be washed away that easily."

He termed "the most ridiculous of these campaign falsifications" an assertion that his administration failed to prepare for war.

"I doubt whether even Goebbels would have tried that one," he said.

Republican leaders in and out of Congress attempted to block defense measures, he charged, and added:

"Many of those very same leaders * * * are still in control of the Republican party, were in control of its national convention in Chicago, and would be in control of the machinery of the Congress and of the Republican party in the event of a Republican victory this fall * * *.

"The people of this country know the past too well to be deceived into forgetting."

Mr. Roosevelt said there are tasks ahead which "we must now complete with the same will and skill and intelligence and devotion which have already led us so far on the road to victory."

They include, he said, the job of a speedy total victory with the least cost of lives, the task of setting up international machinery to keep the peace and of reconverting our own economy from war to peace.

"These peace building tasks were faced once before nearly a generation ago," he declared. "They were botched by a Republican administration. That must not happen this time. We will not let it happen this time."

Victory, he said, will be a "victory for democracy. It will constitute such an affirmation of the strength and power and validity of the government by the people as history has never before witnessed.

"With that affirmation of the validity of democratic government behind us, that demonstration of its resilience and its capacity for decision and for action—with that knowledge of our own strength and power, we move forward with God's help to the greatest epoch of free achievement by free men the world has ever known or imagined possible."

vivors of the bloody battling with the Marines.

The navy communique said Japanese dead on Peleliu through Friday reached a total of 7,020 out of an estimated original garrison of 10,000. The enemy dead on Angaur, already conquered by American soldiers of the Wildcat division, totaled 950. Angaur is six miles southwest of Peleliu.

The Marines on Peleliu already control the airfield and the east coast. Slowly but surely they are driving the surviving Japanese northward up the west coast from strongly fortified positions on "Bloody Nose Ridge."

Headquarters said carrier-based planes hit Yap last Thursday but found few worthwhile targets. Yap, less than 500 miles northeast of the Palaus, is another Japanese guardian off the Pacific side of the Philippines.

Pagan and Anatahan Islands, in the Marianas, were lashed by American Thunderbolts Thursday. Rota, in the same group, was hit by Marine airmen. Their targets were a phosphate plant and storage facilities.

Army Liberators bombed shipping at Chichi Jima in the Bonins 615 miles south of Tokyo. One barge was sunk. Near misses were scored on a freighter and large explosions were observed in the harbor area.

Marcus Island, 1,200 miles southeast of Tokyo, also was bombed Thursday. Ponape, in the Carolines, and Jaluis, in the Marshalls, were hammered by Yank air raiders.

The Tokyo broadcast on the Phillippine puppet declaration of war said the Japanese government was determined to assist the regime of President Jose P. Laurel under a "pact of allegiance.' Laurel stated previously that Filipinos would be conscripted for "defensive" military service to fight beside the Japanese in case of invasion.

DEMOBILIZATION

OES would need filling, with Bowles—who has won presidential praise for his record as price administrator—the first in regular line of succession.

But the report persists that Bowles' friends think him qualified for the key job, director of the OWMR.

Mr. Roosevelt could postpone a decision, if he chose, simply by signing the reconversion law and delaying appointment of a director.

Some officials predict, however, that both the reconversion and the surplus disposal measures will be signed as early as next week and the new officials named promptly. Mr. Roosevelt is said to be not wholly happy with the reconversion bill but the possibility of an early German collapse has put pressure on preparations for peace.

NEW PARTY

name the anti-Roosevelt electors would be filed with Secretary of State Sidney Latham. Monday is the last day for such filing

The effect of today's supreme court decision was to expunge from the Democratic column the names of Presidential electors who have said they would not vote for Roosevelt and Truman.

The court simultaneously closed its doors to further litigation in the matter which has kept the party in a turmoil for months, and which could be an important factor in determining the outcome of the national election.

GERMANS BADLY

fought, outgunned and outmaneuvered them with the magnificent support of a mighty air force.

It is an old infantry gag to say, "It is all over but the fighting," but those of us who have followed the armies for many months in the field see that the end is near. Even the most pessimistic wonder what is keeping the Germans on their feet.

They are punch groggy and now it is a matter of when the knockout blow will land.

In the last war the German army never believed it was whipped on the field of battle. The collapse of 1918 was blamed on the home front. But this time there is no such excuse. They have been beaten on the battlefield—thoroughly, efficiently and decisively.

Not once since American troops landed have the Germans had the initiative. Not once have they won a battle. Not once have they been able to check our armies or even to anticipate their moves.

No one denies that the German is a great fighting man, one of the best in the world. And that makes the triumphs of American arms even more impressive.

On the day the Allies landed General Von Rundstedt's headquarters emphasized to field commanders that Hitler had insisted that our troops on the bridgehead be annihilated by nightfall because the German high command expected another great landing across the channel and wanted to meet it.

All available forces were ordered thrown in. They tried and failed. German commanders repeatedly and frantically requested air support, but none came. Rommel's excuse was that the air force units were just on the point of changing localities and were not immediately available.

Meantime Allied planes roamed the skies blasting the enemy and dominating the air over the troops pouring ashore.

Rommel, who had thought his Atlantic wall defenses sufficient to stop the invasion, wanted his troops at all costs to prevent the Americans from capturing Cherbourg and it harbor and from establishing a firm link between the beachhead on the peninsula and the other one east of the Vire river.

The commander of the German 84th corps say that the battle for Cherbourg was reaching a decisive stage and ordered his troops to hold at all costs. He demanded air support to comb at Allied air superiority and additional anti-tank weapons. He also complained to his superiors that troops sent him were inadequately equipped.

As the situation grew steadily worse the German chief of staff told division commanders that Hitler had ordered that there should be no withdrawal, that every man was to fight and fall where he stood.

Hundreds of Germans did fight and fall where they stood but that did not stop Maj. Gen. Joseph L. Collins' Seventh corps from sweeping in and capturing Cherbourg.

Then came the breakthrough at St. Lo and the sweep south which brought Patton's army into open country where it was able to maneuver.

The situation became so bad that Von Kluge, who had replaced Von Runstedt, discussed problems with a general who was Hitler's representative—and the general agreed to refer the matter to Hitler himself because of its gravity. But Bradley was moving too fast then for the Germans to do anything about it.

The German Seventh Army's disintegration had begun. Their communications were almost non-esixtent. They did not know the positions of the Americans and their own columns were unable to move without being blasted unceasingly from the air.

And Bradley and his two generals—Hodges and Patton—have not let the Germans recover from those first blows as they send them reeling back into their own country.

Only the desperation of Nazis who have nothing to lose and the inbred discipline of German soldiers seem to be holding the battered defenders of the Reich together. With the Allies controlling the air, they are unable to mount any large-scale offensive to drive the Allies back, and can depend only on localized attacks to impede and delay.

Obviously the Germans hope to bring about a stalemate. Their stubborn stand along the Siegfried line has checked our advance for the time being, but their counterattacks have cost them heavily in casualties. And on a man-to-man basis the Germans cannot afford to lose as many men as the Americans.

While the German divisions are watered with teen-age boys, men too old for the strain of prolonged combat, and the physically-unfit, the American units are kept near top strength by a steady flow of replacements, all youths in first-class physical condition who lack only combat experience.

While optimists do not expect the war to last through the winter, the army nevertheless must make its plans for a winter campaign in the event Hitler is able to keep his armies fighting to the last.

Mopping up of the last enemy pockets was proceeding in captured Stolberg today after four days of bitter house-to-house fighting.

Stolberg behind the Siegfried line was at battered, smoking ruins after days of shelling and close fighting in which the Yanks dug the enemy out house by house.

NAZIS RETREAT

tions in the area of Milan indicated that the movement of enemy troops was substantial.

Medium bombers singled out dozens of highway and railway bridges from northeast of Venice westward to Milan in an attempt to maroon and destroy as much of Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring's army as possible.

Kesselring's position along the whole Apennine front was becoming more precarious hourly.

His casualties were high in the terrific shelling and machine gun fire that tore open the breach in the Gothic line north of Florence.

One American infantry column was driving straight on the Futa pass from the village of Santa Lucia.

The Germans were still fighting with all their wonted stubbornness in the mountains, but they were being forced to abandon considerable equipment, and one prisoner said he had been without food for three days.

The three bridal attendants in the Warren-Chapman nuptial event, pictured below, were Miss Ann Young, Mrs. Ardis Ponder and the flower girl, Sandra Ponder.

Flight Officer Hamilton Ward Chapman and his bride, the former Miss Jacquelyn Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lloyd Warren, cut their wedding cake following their marriage at the Methodist Church, West Monroe.

Miss Mildred Keller, above, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Keller, whose engagement and approaching marriage to Lt. James Roark Phillips was formally announced last week. The wedding will take place Oct. 1 at the Selman Field Catholic Chapel.

Miss Clarice Slagle, lower left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Slagle, who left early in September for the Gulf Coast to attend a Chi Omega sorority house party. Miss Slagle is a member of the senior class at Sophie Newcomb College.

Miss Evelyn Kennedy, lower center, will become the bride of Capt. L. L. Reinsmith of Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 9. The ceremony will take place at the Selman Field Protestant Chapel.

Prenuptial Affairs Of Prominence Given For October Bride-To-Be

Hostesses Entertain For Mildred Keller

Mrs. John Guerriero's Tea Claims Prominence Among Prenuptial Affairs

Miss Mildred Keller, who will soon don the wedding veil, will be feted socially every day until she walks altarward. The crowded hours are filled with compliments ranging from morning conversational affairs to luncheons, teas and dinner parties. Bridge is also offering diversion and an occasional breakfast party varies the type of entertaining.

One of the most gracious compliments extended Miss Keller was the tea in the home of Mrs. John Guerriero. A pink color theme in harmony with the furnishings of Mrs. Guerriero's home was reflected in the pink roses and pink tapers everywhere in evidence.

Miss Keller wore one of her lovely trousseau models by Adrian of black moire taffeta with horizon blue bodice. She wore a corsage of pink Columbia roses.

Mrs. Guerriero wore a black crepe model trimmed in white lace. Mrs. Paul Keller, the bride-elect's mother, wore a black crepe model with deep yoke of marquisette and sequins. Mrs. Phillips, mother of the bridegroom elect, wore black crepe with yoke of marquisette All wore corsages of pink butterfly roses.

Guests were served tea in the dining room where Mrs. Ivey C. Jordan, Mrs. R. R. Rhymes, Mrs. A. K. Gunter, and Mrs. John Atkinson, alternated at the silver services.

The tea table, overlaid with lace, was developed in pink and blue. The central decor was a handsome colonial silver candelabra supporting tall white tapers. At the base were placed minature bride's bouquets of pink roses and blue asters tied with lengths of pink and blue tulle. Silver trays held luscious gateaux embossed in pink and inscribed with the names, Mildred and Jimmie.

A coterie of young girls passed a variety of delicious confections among the 200 guests. Miss Beth Rinehart, at the piano provided classical music throughout the receiving hours.

The hostess presented Miss Keller with a gift of silver in her chosen pattern.

Also honoring Miss Keller was the brunch with Mrs. John Pracher and Miss Carol Pracher, hostesses. Miss Keller wore on this occasion a two-piece beige silk and lace model. Her hostess presented her with handsome linen with hand-crocheted lace.

Miss Martha Renaud's compliment to Miss Mildred Keller was a conversational hour in the home of the former's parents. Miss Keller wore on this occasion a lovely model of blush pink crepe. Miss Renaud took this opportunity to present the honoree with a candy container in the candlewick crystal pattern.

Delicious refreshments of ice cream mints, and individual cakes were served to Miss Keller and Mesdames Clyde Laurent, Jack Wills and Ferndale Curry, and Misses Marilyn Rolleigh, Dot Grayson, Magdalen Amman, Jean Tabb, Marillyn Marshall, Gladys Whitfield, Florence Fluker, Kathleen Myers.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy . . . it helps keep the skin soft and pliable . . . thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin . . . for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use.

Mother's Friend

Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin lubricant. Try it tonight.

Books And The Club Woman

In these strenuous times of war our reading should be constructive as well as instructive, and the knowledge of current literature from a standpoint of construction at this time should take the form of the best current books, that will lead our minds and actions to a speedy world peace and a victory that will last. Each club of the Louisiana Federation should work as never before to perfect a standard of high ideals in the world through good books, magazines and papers.

Your club can help by securing a book for the General Federation Woman's Headquarters Library to be lent to club women for the purpose of building better programs.

A splendid service is rendered by purchasing books for boys in war service, in hospitals, on ships, on planes in army camps and on foreign shores, recreational centers and for their pleasure, mental and inspirational uplift.

Contribute books to the community or local libraries. We should keep before us the thought that libraries are the source of knowledge and light in this war-torn world. They are mental and inspirational uplifts to body and soul.

Books for the home should include books which reach the educational level of all members of the family from the youngest to the oldest. Some provision should be made for light reading for adults, to free the mind of the adult from anxiety and problems of living. Timely books must be found for children in the home in order that the love of reading may be fostered and nurtured in the young life. Informational books should be stressed, for so many of our adults of today are realizing for the first time the scantiness or lack of knowledge of other lands and of the people and their ways of living.

En Passant

Hearts will be a little heavier this winter, carrying a full remembrance of Caroline Merrill Flower whose passing on came as a great blow to old friends who remembered her when she presided with so much grace over Evergreen plantation near Alexandria where she went as a bride and later here in Monroe where she lived for many years. Hers was a swift hand to stretch out in friendship. Her sweetness of nature and quick sympathy made her difficult to resist. Her instant appreciation of the talents of others brought her many friends.

Age had no place in Mrs. Flowers' life. She seemed to possess eternal youth and grew lovelier with the passing years. She was truly a daughter of the old South . . . gentle, kind, soft of voice, always a lady. She occupied a special niche reserved for rare personages. Mrs. Flower was actively associated with the religious, literary, civic and social life of this city. She served as regent of Loyalty chapter Daughters of the American Revolution in Alexandria and served recently as state regent of the Louisiana D. A. R. She was also a member of the Colonial Dames of America.

If friends had known they would not see her again a ringing toast would have been given when last they met—to Caroline Flower, a wonderful friend. It is too late for her to hear the toast but not too late to give it.

Missionary From China To Lecture

iss Mabel Ruth Nolin Will Tell Of Perils Besetting Her In Orient

Miss Mabel Ruth Nowlin, who returned to this country n the Gripsholm earlier this summer, after a number of ears of service in China as a Methodist missionary, will visit ne Wesleyan Service Guilds of the Monroe district on Octoer 3, and will speak at the First Methodist Church. This vent is awaited with deep interest, not only by the businessomen who compose the guilds, but by friends and visitors ho are cordially invited to hear this gifted speaker.

Miss Nowlin was formerly stationed Chengtu, West China, but because the severity of attacks in that reon, was transferred to Chungking, e temporary capital, where she has een associated at many points with adam Chiang Kai-Shek, Madam Wu, esident of Ginling College, and other ninent Christian Chinese women, in any avenues of Christian service.

Miss Nowlin's activities have been ore varied and demanding than ose of most missionaries. Outstandg among these should be mentioned r very successful work in promotg the availability of Christian literare, and particularly her efforts to ovide modern text books and other aching material suitable for Chinese ildren. To comprehend the significnce of this task, one should reember that in years past there have en no books for children to study China except the ancient Chinese assics.

One of Miss Nowlin's special projec as the lately organized Christian ofessional Women's Fellowship, hich is the counterpart of the Wesyan Service Guild, a group of "highwered" Christian professional wom, some working with Madam Chiang the warphanage and other offices importance; several doctors, supertendents of nursing education, sectaries of Y. W. C. A., and women employed in many other important positions. About half of these women have had graduate study in America. All are graduates of Christian girls' high schools, and speak well for what missions can produce. Miss Nowlin says that Madam Chiang tries to staff all her work with Christian women if she can, but the supply is too limited to meet the demand. She believes that the development of women in business and professional life in China will be much more rapid after the war, even, than now, and this is a cherished conviction toward the fulfillment of which she has been giving her best efforts.

Miss Nowlin will give a graphic account of her experiences in China where she was constantly beset with perils. Her audience will also be thrilled by the unselfish devotion and undaunted courage that keeps such women at their places of duty as long as it is possible to remain. She made the long trip home by way of India, arriving in the early summer, and has spent the past several months attending assemblies and filling many other engagements. Although Miss Nowlin has been the Wesleyan Service Guild's own special missionary for a number of years, her work having been wholly financed by that organization which is a part of the Women's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Church, this is her first visit to the Guilds of the South, and her appearance in Monroe is the first of a series of contacts with the Guilds of Louisiana. A most cordial invitation is extended to the public, to attend the meeting at First Methodist Church on Tuesday evening, October 3.

Book Reviews Feature Meeting

Reader's Clique Enjoy Excellent Book Reviews Of Popular Fiction

Thursday afternoon the members of the Reader's Clique met in the home of Mrs. Burl Hollis for their first meeting of this club year. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Raymond John, and the club collect was read in unison. After the reports of the committees on their activities during the summer, Mrs. John appointed Mrs. W. M. Ryland Jr., as corresponding secretary, Mrs. Stanley Archibald and Mrs. Ernest Marchman as the scrap book committee and Mrs. Fred Parrish and Mrs. Walker Glenn as the gift committee. The treasurer, Mrs. Walker Glenn, presented the club budget to the club for the coming year.

Mrs. Jack Masur, chairman of the book committee, gave an interesting resume on the books for the club, she said in part: "'The Labyrinth' by Cecil Roberts. The scene of this story opens in Tunis and moves to Crete before and during the German invasion. Sylvia Day had visited her brother Richard, an archeologist. She has an affair with an Italian which ended with the outbreak of war. She returns to the island in the role of a young nurse in the army that retreated from Greece and is making an heroic stand against the German air invasion. This drama, personal, as well as international, with its background of the terrific struggle by air, sea and land, comes to a tense finale, played out against the wild beauty of the Creatan mountains. It is a story of quenchless heroism that unites fiction and current history.

"Leave her to Heaven" by Ben Ames Williams—"Thirty years or so ago" says Ben Ames Williams, I encountered in casual reading a reference to the Seven Deadly Sins. The phrase was not new to me, but I had never stopped to ask what the Seven Deadly Sins were. The information once acquired, stayed in my mind; and during the next 15 years I wrote at one time or another, five stories or novels which I might, I thought group into a septology. I'm aware that there is no such word, but why not each dealing with one of the seven. Five were done, but Gluttony and Sloth never came to be written, for there was, it seemed to me, another sin more nearly universal and more deadly. Jealousy was a common trait; not the jealousy which a lover feels, but the jealousy of a mother who resents her child's affection for its father, of a wife who resents her husband's masculine friends, of a husband who resents his wife's interests outside the home. Jealousy that seeks exclusive possession; that is the original sin, and "Leave Her to Heaven" is a book about a jealous woman.

"Blackbirds on the Lawn" by Jane Morton. A Kentucky village is the scene of any enjoyable story of small town people especially the Tarnols and the Merrils, between whom there exists a feud of long standing.

"Joanna" by Helen Ashton. The story of a famous novelist's wife who discovered on the day France surrendered that her husband was in love with his Brazilian mistress, and that alone in the midst of war, she faced the task of making over her whole life.

"Bermuda Calling" by David Garth. An exciting spy story in a setting of the New Bermuda—the great American and English naval base.

"One Dam Thing After Another" by Tom Treanor. The light hearted adventures on four war fronts of a roving correspondent trapped between the censors and the Axis.

"Lebanon," by Caroline Miller. The author of Lebanon tells the story of a Georgia girl's courage and struggle to find new happiness in the west following a heart break.

"A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," by Betty Smith, is a story of Francis Nolan and the world of Williamsburg, Brooklyn, that made her. It is a story of tears and laughter, cruelty and compassion, so crossed with life and people and incidents, that no description can begin to convey its spell.

"The Time for Decision" by Sumner Welles. A famous statesman's first hand account of world events since 1918, and of the men who took part in them. A frank book, a fascinating book, a hopeful book—a book that examines the past in order to cast light on the future—driving home to the American people that the time for decision is now.

"Land I Have Chosen," by Ellin Berlin, is a story of two women, one American, the other German, who find their private lives caught up in the clash of Fascism and freedom.

"Escape the Thunder," by Lonnie Coleman. The colorful and moving story of Negroes in their own world written with truly remarkable insight and sure craftsmanship. This dramatic story unfolds with almost casual violence and moves as simply and directly as a play.

"What Manner of Man," by Noel Busch. Here is a story of F. D. Roosevelt. Noel Busch has written an original and penetrating study entirely unlike anything else which has been done on the subject. With fresh and dispassionate eye and great insight he views Roosevelt as boy and man, impartially and with many humorous touches he presents a most unusual three dimensional portrait.

"I Never Left Home," by Bob Hope. Keeping up a continual stream of the kind of humor which has gained for him thousands of radio listeners, Bob

Bob Hope reports on his travels to army bases in Africa, the Near East, Sicily and England.

"Time for Each Other," by Margaret Lee Runbeck. An enchanting novel of an American family today. Our "Miss Boo" one of the most delightful characters in modern fiction is back along with Lilliam that paragon of cooks and tiny mocha colored Cukey, bland as a baby Buddah. You will love every character in the household.

"The Night is Ending," by James Ronald. The story of a woman with charm and courage by the author of "Old Soldiers Never Die." The editor's choice of the Retail Bookseller for April. A story of especially rich in people. Rich in people means rich in life. You will find the night is ending, long, full and warming.

"The History of Rome Hanks," by Joseph Stanley Pennell. Because of a modern girl's taunt about his grandfather, young Lee Harrington reconstructs from memory and from old tales told by his mother and others the life of his great grandfather, Romer Hanks, and others of his family who fought in the Civil War and later lived and struggled on the frontier.

"Storm to the South," by Thelma Strabel. A full bodied colorful novel of war and business and romance, set principally in the fabulous Peruvian city of Lima at the time of Bolivar's fight for freedom—by the author of "Reap the Wild Wind."

"The Razor's Edge," by Somerset Maugham. This will rank among the very best of Maugham's novels. Told with all of his consummate artfulness, and with an intensity he has hardly touched in any of his novels since "Of Human Bondage."

"Guide for the Bedeviled," by Ben Hecht. With all of his satiric cleverness, his adroit style, his civilized scorn of pretense and smugness, the author attacks anti-Semitism and particularly the mental attitude in both Jew and Gentile—that makes it possible.

"Daylight on Saturday," by J. B. Priestley. Here is a great novel of England in wartime. Priestley's finest since "Angel Pavement." Its hero is a huge camouflaged aircraft factory somewhere in England. Its story is that of a score of lives—the lives of people drawn from civilian life by circumstance, into an unearthly subterranean world, people swallowed up at daybreak and poured forth at dusk every day, six days a week.

Mrs. John introduced Miss Garrett, Red Cross representative, from the Field Hosptal, who gave an interesting talk on a the recreation of the Field Hospital.

During the conversational hour that followed, refreshments were served to the following members:

Mrs. Raymond John, Mrs. Fred Parrish, Mrs. Skeeter Morgan, Mrs. Oliver Lowery, Mrs. Louis Peters, Mrs. Walker Glenn, Mrs. W. M. Ryland Jr., Mrs. Jack Masur, Mrs. Alvin Furlow.

Red Cross Makes Appeal

The Red Cross is making an appeal to all army wives living in Monroe to aid with the making of surgical dressings. Tuesday each week is army wives' day for Red Cross work at the American Legion home on Forsythe avenue. The hours are 9 a. m. until noon and 1 p. m. until 4 p. m. At this time our wounded are in larger numbers than ever and the need for surgical dressings is great. Monroe has a tremendous quota of 320,000 bandages to be made, packed and shipped by the last day of November.

Mrs. C. K. Dickard of 1106 North Sixth street has been very faithful in giving her time every Tuesday for two years to promote army wives' day for surgical dressing work at the Legion home. Mrs. Dickard is the first to arrive in the morning and the last one to leave in the afternoon and army wives can best express their appreciation by turning out en masse to aid with the work. Those who report for surgical dressing work should wear a wash dress, and a scarf to completely cover her hair, they should leave all jewelry (except wedding ring) at home and preferably not wear nail polish because of the danger of a piece chipping off while working on the bandages.

It is hoped that every army wife who is able to do so will donate some of her time to this work. If she cannot come on Tuesday to the Legion home her services will be equally valuable some other day in the week at any place in the city where bandages are being made.

Mrs. George Church is chairman of the Red Cross work for the Officers' Wives' Club.

Announcement has just been made that emergency yarn has been received at the local Red Cross headquarters and an appeal is being made for more knitters. Knitted articles are vitally needed for shipment to our men in prison camps overseas. An emergency now exists and all knitters are requested to give their full support. Yarn may be taken home but instructions in knitting will be given at Red Cross headquarters. The hours are from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. and 2 to 4 p. m. every day except Saturday and Sunday.

Warren-Chapman Nuptials Observed

Wedding Of Miss Jacquelyn Warren Is Event Of Exceptional Interest

The marriage of Miss Jacquelyn Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lloyd Warren, and Hamilton Ward Chapman, flight officer, of Selman Field, son of Dr. and Mrs. V. W. Chapman of Hossick Falls, N. Y., creates sincere interest in this section of the South and also in New York state.

The wedding took place September 8 at 6:30 o'clock in the evening at the First Methodist Church of West Monroe with the Rev. Louis Hoffpauir officiating. A large concourse of friends and relatives witnessed the impressive double ring ceremony.

The pre-nuptial concert was rendered by Mrs. Charles Myers, organist and Mrs. Dorothy Powell, vocalist. The delightful numbers included "Because" and "Oh Promise Me." Mrs. Myers wore a blue chiffon with a corsage of pastel flowers and Miss Powell, a white tulle frock with corsage of gardenias.

Pale pink gladioli and woodwardia fern intersperced with cathedral tapers banked the altar and chancel and formed a semi-circle for the wedding party.

Mrs. Ardis Ponder, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. Her picturesque gown was fashioned of pearl brocaded satin, with long basque, full skirt and sweetheart neckline. She wore a quaint Dutch cap of the same material and carried a colonial bouquet of peach gladioli and blue astors.

Miss Ann Young, bridesmaid, wore a blue brocaded model. Her Dutch cap was blue brocade and she carried a colonial bouquet.

Sandra Ponder, niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a powder-blue tulle frock with long full skirt. A tiny spray of tube roses with pink tulle caught with a blue ribbon in her blonde curls. She carried a dainty basket filled with pastel rose petals.

Lieutenant Buzza of Selman Field served as best man. The ushers were: Lieutenant McLaughlin, Lieutenant Hart, Lieutenant Chapman, and Lieutenant Alexander. Lieutenant McLaughlin and Lieutenant Hart lighted the tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a beautiful white French crepe brocaded model. It was fashioned with a long basque, with tiny covered buttons down the back. The sleeves were long and pointed and the yoke was of lace. Her flowing veil was of tulle and fell from a halo of net. She carried a colonial bouquet of tube roses, white astors encircled with tulle and showered with sprays of the same blossoms. The groom's gift was an antique silver bracelet.

Miss Warren is a descendant of two prominent families. Her grandfather and grandmother were the late Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Warren. Her maternal grandparents were Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Denham of Mississippi. She is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School and St. Vincent's Academy.

Mr. Chapman is a member of a distinguished family. His father, Dr. V. W. Chapman, is a prominent dentist in Hossick Falls, N. Y., and his mother is an outstanding figure in cultural and civic circles. He attended Cswego State Teacher's College and was graduated from The Bentley College of Finance and the Boston Polytechnic Institute. He is a member of Phi Pi fraternity.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Warren suburban home. Mr. and Mrs. Warren, and the groom's parents, Dr. and Mrs. V. W. Chapman, received the guests. The party stood in the florally adorned reception room banked with gladioli and blue astors.

Mrs. Warren, the bride's mother, wore an evening model of white net over taffeta with a corsage of white orchids. The bridegroom's mother wore a handsome model of steel grey with burgandy trimming and a half hat of the same color. She wore a corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. D. C. Metcalf, wearing a blue model with corsage of flowers of self-material assisted in receiving.

The bride's table in the dining room developed exclusively in white, was overlaid with handsome point Venice lace and centrally adorned with a three-tiered wedding cake surmounted with miniature figurines of bride and bridegroom. White asters encircled the cake, white tapers burned in silver candlesticks.

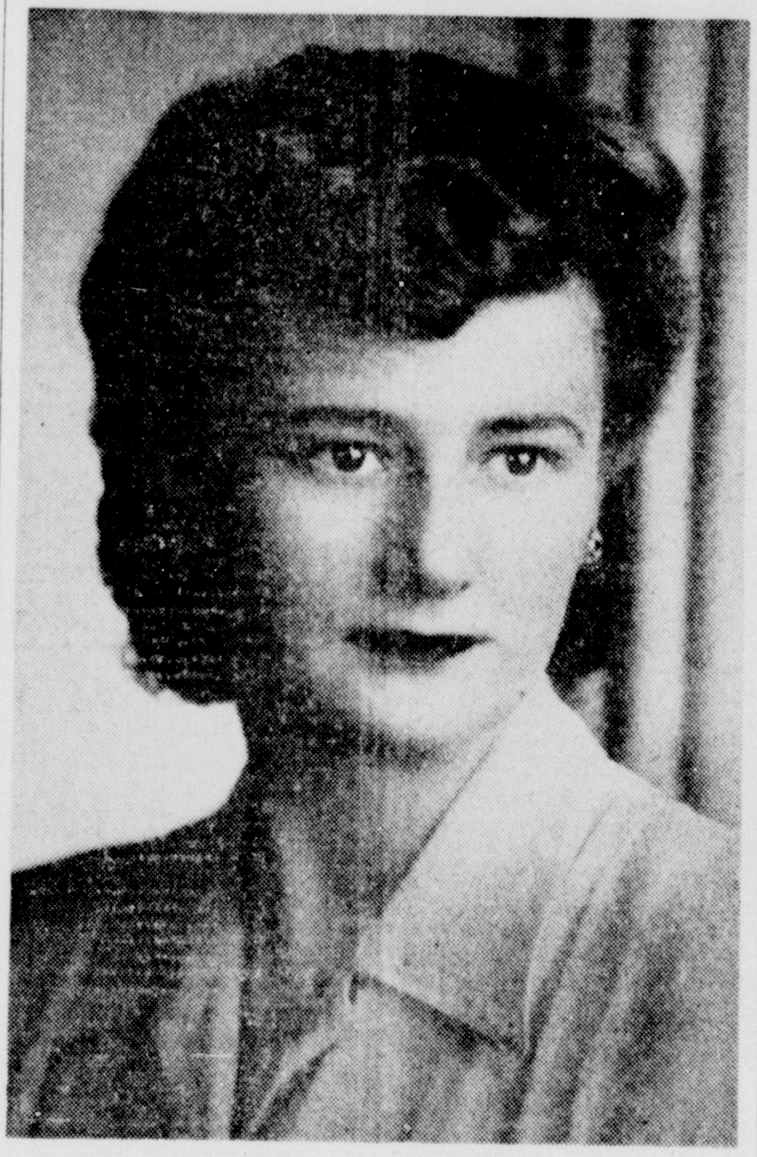
The bride and bridegroom cut their wedding cake with the saber of Capt. George W. Harlow, a cherished friend of the family.

White clad attendants passed among the guests with individual wedding cakes and iced punch.

The beautiful wedding gifts were on display in the solarium where the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd K. Dinham of Clarksdale, Miss., extended courtesies.

Flight Officer and Mrs. Chapman will spend their honeymoon at the Chapman summer home on Cape Cod and in New York City. Mrs. Chapman traveled in a smart tailleur of tomato color gabardine with corsage of orchids. Later they will be at home in this city where the bridegroom is stationed with the air corps at Selman Field.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED



Miss Beverly Brewer, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. James A. Brewer of Montclair, N. J., whose engagement to A/C Jewel Emmett Colvin Jr., of this city, has just been announced. Miss Brewer at this time is a guest in the home of her fiance's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Colvin. Miss Brewer is a student at Syracuse University and is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Shops You Must Visit with Camille

IT'S ALWAYS FIESTA TIME AT THE MEXI-CRAFT SHOP on DeSiard street where color runs riot. Color always cheers so visit this shop tomorrow if you are low in spirits. Here you will find trinkets to make you sparkle . . . silver earrings, bracelets and beads. Treat yourself to a large dose of color in the form of a fiesta jacket (simply charming). These jackets of plain linen are embroidered in the colors used south of the border. They are bits of feminine fantasy and becoming to all types. The embroidered frocks for little girls are equally enchanting. O, yes, be sure and look at the Mexican baskets . . . how they do brighten up a dull corner.

HE'LL BE THE MOST DISAPPOINTED GUY IN THE WORLD if he fails to receive one of those luscious fruit cakes from the CITY BAKERY as Christmas gift. They are specially made for overseas shipment . . . chuck-full of fruits to keep them moist . . . specially wrapped in damp proof paper . . . beautifully wrapped as a Christmas gift. The baking facilities of Monroe's favorite bakery is tested to the fullest, so great is the demand for these cakes. In fact every day at twelve o'clock crowds pour into the CITY BAKERY for a loaf of MEL-O-TOAST piping hot from the oven . . . the odor is tantalizing and the flavor is incomparable.

THE LOVE OF YOUR LIFE AWAITS YOU AT THE STYLE SHOP. Never has there been such a glamorous showing of gowns in this city as those found at this shop where style begins. Each one has distinctive features not found elsewhere . . . there is originality of neckline, deftly manipulated bodices, and skirt slimness. Take it from me no femme need lack glamour these days . . . it can be found in those lovely models at the STYLE SHOP. Why be a drab little caterpillar when you can be a gorgeous butterfly! March down to the STYLE SHOP and select a few of those stunning models before they are picked over . . . when you gaze at your reflection you will discover all your dreams have come true. The man in your life will never forget you if you wear the gown that was made for you alone . . . it is there for you. Each frock is dramatically highlighted with color, with flashing brilliance and reflects an air of impeccable good taste.

ALL OF A SUDDEN I GROW POSITIVELY LYRICAL over those hats ALICE HENRY is showing this season. It's so easy to find the one you will love . . . the one that flatters you to the nth degree. Perhaps you are looking for a little evening hat of velvet, feathers, a fluff of veil, and bejeweled . . . perhaps you would like a wide-brimmed one off-the-face . . . if it is one with dash and verve, a beguiling one of soft velvet, or one for strictly practical purposes, you will find it at ALICE HENRY'S. Women in this community always go to ALICE HENRY'S first when looking for a hat. They never have to go elsewhere as this hat stylist studies her patrons like an artist studies his models. She will tell you frankly what type of hat you should wear . . . such advice is invaluable.

A TREASURED TRADITION WITH THE R AND A JEWELRY . . . the fact that it has played an important part in southern romance. Engagement and wedding rings from this shop are traditional. For years young gallants of Monroe have sought the advice of these diamond experts and they have never yet been ill advised. The silver in many Monroe homes came from the R AND A and will be handed down from one generation to another. Watches, bracelets, brooches and the pins purchased at the R AND A have all played a part in the romance of this section of the south. A young man, romantically inclined, seeks the R AND A JEWELRY COMPANY when in search of a gift for the only girl in the world. If bewildered, in regard to a proper gift, he is given the right kind of advice. Better make your selection now for Christmas gifts.

OUT OF THE GLORIOUS LAVISHNESS OF THE PAST comes the priceless antiques at the QUAINT HOUSE in West Monroe. You enjoy a breathless moment of surprise when you first lift the brass knocker. Visions of those romantic days of old will be conjured up when you look at the collection of rare pieces Mrs. Mize has garnered from the four corners of the globe. You will be seized with a desire to own the things that will bring you long years of pride in their possession. All the chairs, tables and beds at THE QUAINT HOUSE are of mellowed mahogany and rosewood too beautiful for mere words. Every article is authentic . . . every piece has a history. Mrs. Mize will be delighted to take you with her in memory down the dim corridors of the past.

YOUR NEW HOME IS PRECIOUS. IT'S EVERYTHING YOU EVER dreamed about it. But there's one thing you have overlooked . . . a mirror from SHERWIN-WILLIAMS' GIFT SHOP. Perhaps you didn't realize how just why your living room looked a little too bare and impersonal, until it was suggested that you hang a mirror on that bare spot. Instantly a miracle took place . . . a gracious, welcoming room was born . . . the good points of every other piece of furniture in the room was stressed. A mirror from SHERWIN-WILLIAMS is the answer to your wedding gift problem. And while browsing around you will find colorful little bric-a-brac you will want to purchase for certain spots in your home. Look at the glamorous wall paper . . . Venetian blinds . . . other things necessary to beautify your home.

HAPPY DAYS AHEAD FOR PATRONS OF THE JOY THEATER. If you want to see the very best pictures produced then you are in luck. IRA PHILLIPS, affable manager of this theater tells me that he has booked two widely discussed pictures of the year, "White Cliffs of Dover," and "Gaslight." In fact there is an excellent bill each week at THE JOY. Today and Monday Merle Oberon and Brian Aherne are playing in "First Comes Courage." . . . You must see this poignantly sweet, highly dramatic picture. On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Kay Kyser comes to THE JOY in "SWING FEVER." You will be swept off your feet with the beautiful music, spectacular scenic effects and thrilling situations. Really you can't afford to miss either attraction . . . and remember the price is just right.

Post-War Problems Subject Of Talk

irst Meeting Of Monroe Literary Club Is One Of Exceptional Interest

"When this war is over one of the greatest problems hich will confront the people of the United States is that f education." These words formed the sum and substance f the talk Mrs. S. E. Morris delivered to members of the Ionroe Literary Club when they met in the home of Mrs. . E. Massey with Mrs. A. B. Colmer, co-hostess. The resident, Mrs. J. K. Blue, presided. The program opened ith prayer led by Mrs. R. E. Wilson, followed by the flag alute. The secretary read the minutes of the last meeting. he club collect was read in unison.

Mrs. Morris said in part: "The war elf has brought into focus the faults our education and at the same ne started new procedures which ise grave questions.

"The necessity to train officers for e demands of modern war required t the universities of this country sume a tremendous undertaking. As u know officers for a nine million an army could not be trained in est Point and other military intutions.

The army called on the colleges to pply the training. The curriculum s set not by the college but by the ny and navy.

The army and navy made many rtling discoveries. For instance that ousands and thousands had no owledge of higher mathematics and ers were unable to send in reports respectable English.

Miles of words have been written out Nazi paganism but the fact is t for a generation American ools have been turning out not gans but heatherns. Now a Democy or a civilized society cannot g endure without a great body of n from every part of the world. o recognize what is or is not; civied education."

Mrs. Colmer also introduced Mrs. D. McAdams, who gave a book iew on "Education in a Democy." Mrs. McAdams said in part: As the eyes are the windows of soul—so the eyes are the fingers the mind, reaching out to grasp the beauty, and the wisdom, and the culture of our Democracy.

"Schools are an index of the effectiveness of a people in cultural progress. If we were to permit industry to lay the foundations of education along trade lines, as has been suggested, our culture would progress not at all.

"In our great Democracy, our free public schools provide educational opportunities for children of all races, creeds, and colors. Aside from the basic, practical sciences, our schools bring pressure on the child to accept his citizenship as a social responsibility.

"We must realize the drastic changes in our school systems since our entry into the war, in 1941, for it is estimated that there are now 7,500 vacant classrooms in the United States, due primarily to the teacher shortage. Academic training and vocational guidance programs will be a great factor in the post-war planning, for as education for all has been the theme of Democracy in the past generations, so shall "Education for All" be the gateway to tomorrow.

"If we hope to keep our Democracy, we must keep our educational system in tact."

At the close of the program the hostess served delicious refreshments to the following club members and one guest, Mrs. Ed Crowley: Mrs. A. D. McAdams, Mrs. S. E. Morris, Mrs. P. E. Massey Mrs. Floyde Matthews, Mrs. A. B. Colmer, Mrs. J. K. Blue, Mrs. J. E. Humphrey, Mrs. Sidney Karr, Mrs. Jessie Heard, Mrs. J. R. Roark, Mrs. J. W. Womack, Mrs. DeWitt Smith, Mrs. L. W. Boyce, Mrs. R. E. Wilson, Mrs. W. L. James Jr., and Mrs. Ed Crowley.

Opera Club Is Entertained

An hour of charming music was enjoyed by members of the Opera Club when they met in the home of Mrs. A. M. Serex with Mrs. E. C. Gibson, co-hostess.

Mrs. B. B. Martin, the new president, was introduced at this time. The resignation of Mrs. C. E. Woodham caused regret among the members. Mrs. Merle L. Padgett, a former member, was welcomed back after an absence of one year from the city.

After the business session the members enjoyed a program of recorded music from the opera Don Giovanni by Mozart. The records were from the music library of Mrs. Serex, who has the entire score of this and many other operas.

Delicious refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. R. W. Cretney, Mrs. V. S. Garnet, Mrs. K. C. Kramer, Mrs. B. B. Martin, Mrs. P. A. Poag, Mrs. A. M. Serex, Mrs. John Sholars, Mrs. Duncan M. Smith, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. C. R. Tidwell, Mrs. R. O. Ware, and Mrs. E. R. Whitaker.

Confidentially

A lovely likeness of Mrs. William B. Gladney of Baton Rouge, the former, Miss Ruth Washburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Washburn of this city, appeared in the social section of the Baton Rouge State Times recently. For the benefit of Mrs. Gladney's many friends in this city where she visits at regular intervals in the home of her parents, we publish the caption of the picture as follows:

"This handsome picture of Mrs. William B. Gladney was made especially for her husband on the twentieth anniversary, which is today. An unusually attractive study, it reveals something of the quiet humor and personable qualities of this attractive leader in society. The Gladneys, who were married 20 years ago in the Methodist Church in Monroe, are celebrating the day in New Orleans."

Mrs. Marion Learned is spending several weeks in New York and other eastern cities.

Mrs. French Craddock of Sylacauga Ala., the attractive house guest of Mrs. Russell Simpson, is the central figure at numerous social affairs planned in her honor. Luncheons and dinner parties are claiming prominence among the courtesies extended. Mrs. Simpson and Mrs. Craddock are planning to spend the day in Natchez, Miss., on Monday.

Mrs. DeWitt Milam, general chairman of the local Red Cross chapter and Mrs. Travis Oliver, chairman of the Red Cross nurse's aide corps, will leave tonight for New Orleans to attend an important meeting of the National American Red Cross.

Mrs. Meyer Greenwald has returned from a month's visit with relatives in Wichita Falls, Tex.

Miss Jerry Kelsoe is enjoying a brief visit with Mrs. Gordon McLelland in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Noe. Miss Kelsoe and Mrs. McLelland were classmates at the University of Oklahoma.

Lt. and Mrs. William G. Seith announce the arrival of a son, William Geiter Seith Jr., at St. Francis Sanitarium, September 15. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Seith of Media, Pa., and the maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Butler of Atlanta, Ga. Mrs. Butler arrived in the city last week to make the acquaintance of her grandson.

St. Matthew's P.-T. A. Elects Its Officers For The Coming Year

Quoting from the message of the president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, Mrs. Leo Ritter, secretary of St. Matthew's P.-T. A. said in her opening remarks to P.-T. A. members meeting in regular session. "The National Congress of Parents and Teachers is indeed proud to salute the teacher members, and all other capable, devoted workers in the teaching profession."

Mrs. Vincent Marsala, president, called upon Father Hundley to open the meeting with prayer.

The National Congress of Parents and Teachers is an organization made up of those who believe the proper nurture and development of children and youth to be the first duty of the adult generation. Membership enrollment is under way. If you are not already a member, you are cordially invited to join. Mrs. Allen Ritter membership chairman is always anxious to greet new members and graciously welcomes back and old. What Is Wrong When Prayer Fails?

Thirty years ago, in Forbidden Tibet, behind the highest mountains in the world, a young Englishman named Edwin J. Dingle found the answer to this question. A great mystic opened his eyes. A great change came over him. He realized the strange Power that Knowledge gives.

That Power, he says, can transform the life of anyone. Questions, whatever they are, can be answered. The problems of health, death, poverty and wrong, can be solved.

In his own case, he was brought back to splendid health. He acquired wealth, too, as well as world-wide professional recognition. Thirty years ago, he was sick as a man could be and live. Once his coffin was bought. Years of almost continuous tropical fevers, broken bones, near blindness, privation and danger had made a human wreck of him, physically and mentally.

He was about to be sent back to England to die, when a strange message came—"They are waiting for you in Tibet." He wants to tell the whole world what he learned there, under the guidance of the greatest mystic he ever encountered during his twenty-one years in the Far East. He wants everyone to experience the greater health and the Power, which there came to him.

Within ten years, he was able to retire to this country with a fortune. He had been honored by fellowships in the World's leading geographical societies, for his work as a geographer. And today, 30 years later, he is still so athletic, capable of so much work, so young in appearance, it is hard to believe he has lived so long.

As a first step in their progress toward the Power that Knowledge gives, Mr. Dingle wants to send to readers of this paper a 9,000-word treatise. He says the time has come for it to be released to the Western World, and offers to send it, free of cost or obligation, to sincere readers of this notice. For your free copy, address The Institute of Mentalphysics, 213 South Hobart Blvd., Dept. K-384, Los Angeles 4, Calif. Readers are urged to write promptly, as only a limited number of the free books have been printed.

HONOR CONFERRED UPON MEMBERS OF YOUNGER SET

Four charming members of the younger set, left to right, Miss Gene Courtney, Miss Betty Hale, Miss Jean Hemler and Miss Bennie Hughes, were recently honored by members of Delta Sigma fraternity. Miss Courtney and Miss Hale were chosen sponsors, Miss Hemler, "sweetheart" and Miss Hughes, "Miss Delta Sigma." They were introduced at the annual formal ball early in September at the fraternity house.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
Auburn Ave. and North Second St.

"Realty" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, September 21, 1944.

The golden text is: "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning" (James 1:17).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen" (Rom. 11:36).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The spiritual reality is the scientific fact in all things" (p. 207).

Suppose there are some who do not do exactly right in some places, what of that? There are many things that are not right. Never mind. Everything that is wrong will in due time be righted. It is well to use your judgment freely in pruning your trees, but it requires great wisdom to prune and regulate the Church of Christ. Are you possessed of great wisdom? If there is nothing good in a man, he will by and by develop the evil that is in him, and then everybody will agree that the pruning ought to be done. But if the good preponderates, it would be wrong, because of prejudice or ignorance, to destroy the good. It is best to leave it to the husbandsman, and then all the congregation will say Amen.

GRACE EPISCOPAL CHURCH

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Grammont at Catalpa
Ernest D. Holloway, Pastor

"Bible Study, a Most Profitable Labor" is the theme of our morning message. The officials and teachers of the Sabbath school are the guests of honor. They will be installed. These workers are doing a real work. It is possible for the members of the congregation to prove their gratitude by being present for the hour of worship.

Sunday evening is young people's night. The youth of the congregation will have charge of the service. The offering which is received will go for their state-wide plans.

Wednesday evening, September 27, 7:45 o'clock, we begin a study of the confession of faith. It is our judgment that too few of us understand and know the tenets of our faith. We expect as a result of these studies to be wise unto what we believe and qualified to give a reason for the hope that is in us. If you will attend, you will guarantee the attendance goal, 50.

A cordial welcome awaits you at all hours of worship.

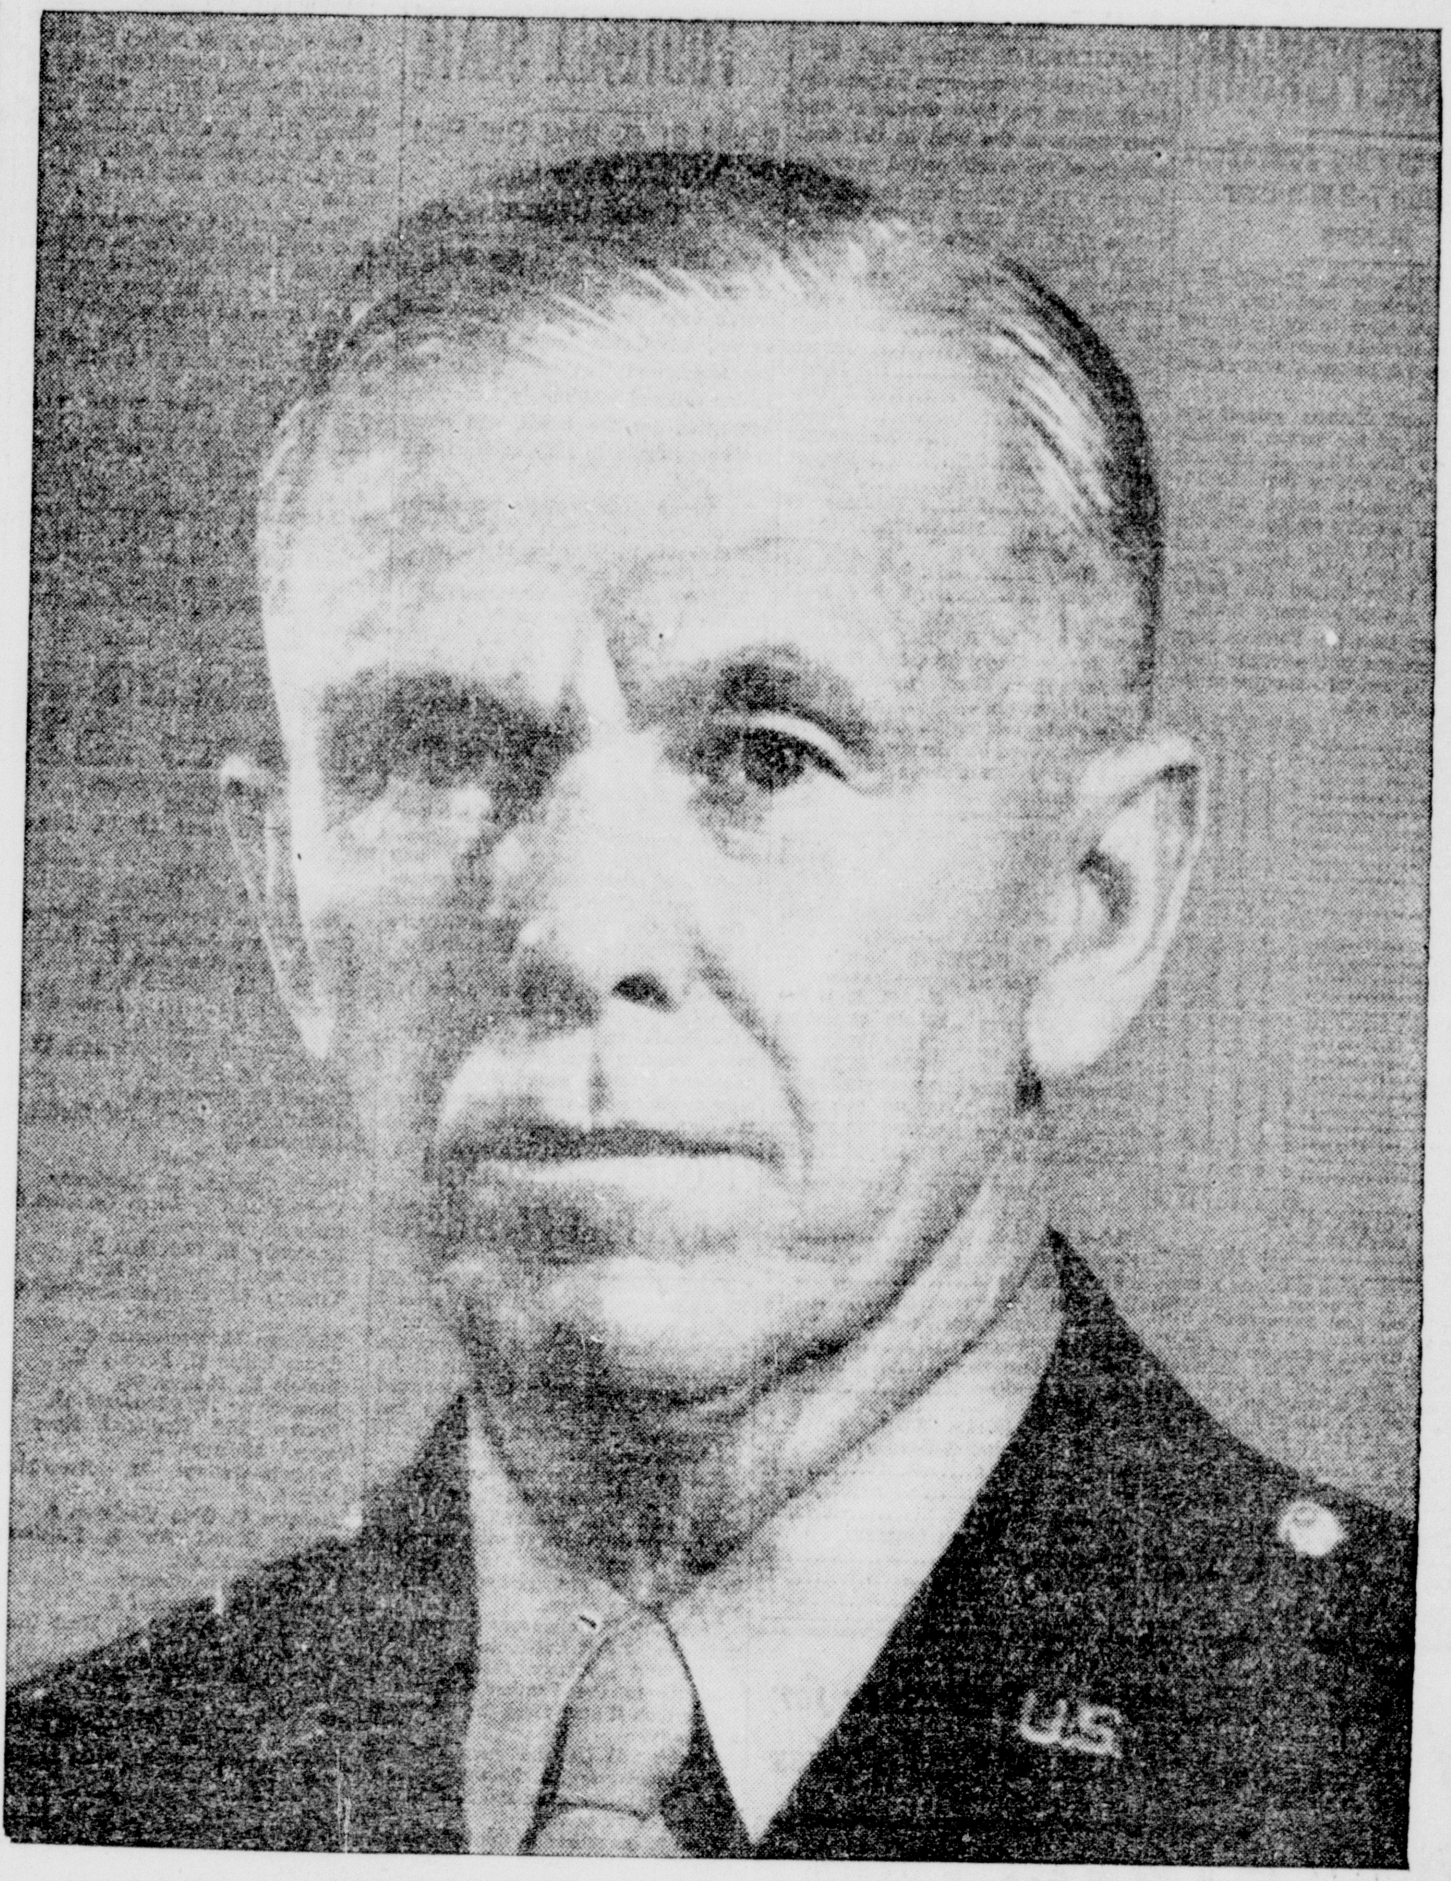
Admiral Ernest J. King: "The dollars of every patriotic American must continue to build invasion ships to transport our men and materials in increasing numbers to the many active fronts. In 1944, more than ever before, the money we invest in War Bonds is of supreme importance."



General George C. Marshall: "The American people must give not only their full personal effort but the full use of their dollars invested in War Bonds to back these attacks. There is no alternative. Total victory is in sight, but it can only be won by concentrating every resource of America to the task."

The first 3 years have been the easiest!

It's easy to give everything you've got when you're scared to death and fighting for your life.

It's hardest to bear down when things look "in the bag."

As the war looks today, for instance.

Overconfidence may not lose us this war. But if it makes us ease up, it can prolong it.

Even if only one extra day is added to the war—just one—thousands of American boys may die for it. Perhaps, God forbid, a friend of yours, or son, or brother, or sweetheart, or husband.

So don't slow down now. Don't coast. Buy Bonds with that extra cash—all the Bonds you can.

After all, buying Bonds is not only a patriotic but a very wise thing to do. The dollars you put in Bonds now will come back to you—bringing more dollars with them. Dollars that can mean happiness, security, comfort—just when you'll want those things most.

Buy War Bonds for your country. Buy them for yourself. They're the world's safest investment.

YANKS STILL HOPE TO TAKE PENNANT

Champ Keep Flag Aspirations Alive With 7-2 Win Over Indians

CLEVELAND, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The New York Yankees kept their faint pennant hopes alive today by taking their second straight from the Cleveland Indians 7-2 before a slim crowd of 2,500 fans.

Bookie Floyd Bevens gained his third triumph of the season, holding the tribe to five hits. It was not until the eighth inning that the Indians were able to score, tallying twice on Jeff Heath's single with the bases full. Until then Bevens had allowed only two hits. Three Yankee double plays helped the young righthander out of as many holes.

The victory kept the Yankees from losing any ground to the league leading Detroit Tigers, who conquered the Red Sox today 8-2.

N. J. C. ARRANGING FOOTBALL SLATE

Squad Of 40 Boys End First Week's Work Under Coach Malone

The 1944 campaign of the Indians of northeast Junior College of L. S. U. hasn't been completely mapped out as yet, but Coach James L. Malone has announced that four Mississippi junior colleges will supply November opposition for the locals, and plans are being made to play at least one army post.

So far no definite dates have been announced, but Coach Malone said the abbreviated slate would be ready for publication soon.

Without ASTP reinforcements that furnished the Tribe with enough material to build a strong eleven last year, the Redskins will take the field with little more than high school talent in order to avoid abandoning the gridiron. Many prospects, however, have had little or no high school experience.

Coach Malone has been working with a squad of 40 boys who "look as well as expected."

"They have determination and hustle and might develop into something yet," Coach Malone declared.

So far the Tribal prospects have been getting the benefit of individual instruction, but signal drills and rougher work will be in store for them for the next week.

Coach Malone said he was expecting more training equipment in a few days and that the squad would probably swell to 50 prospects as soon as the equipment is available.

'T' COMES THROUGH FOR PITT PANTHERS

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Clark Shaughnessy sent out his second T-formation edition of the Pittsburgh Panthers here today and defeated the Mountaineers of West Virginia 26-13.

Pitt completed only three forward passes from T-formation plays but amassed 296 yards from rushing to 22 for West Virginia.

Pitt scored late in the first quarter when Kalminir skirted left end for 17 yards and then crashed over from the one-yard line. In the third period, Sprock scored from the four-yard line after the Panthers had moved 44 yards on five plays.

Then the Mountaineers passing attack caught Pitt flat-footed. Walthall tossed and Anderson received West Virginia to the Panther eight and Rader took it over from the one after a penalty.

Sprock and Gaugler gave Pitt another touchdown in the same period with Kalminir scoring and Kosh kicking the extra point.

Both teams scored in the last period, with Matthews Banasick and Itzel carrying the ball from their own 22 and Freese going over the line and kicking the point. Haman tossed a long one to Kesling who galloped across the goal for the Mountaineers.

NEVILLE OPENS SEASON WITH JONESBORO-HODGE TO MEET CLARKS TWICE

The Neville High School football schedule was swelled to eight games the past week with the addition of two games with the Clarks High School Lumberjacks on a home-and-home basis, Coach Devon Payne announced last night.

The Tigers go to Clarks for their first clash with the 'Jacks on October 13, and the Caldwell parish aggregation will be here for the return game on November 10.

Coach Payne is still seeking a game for November 17 to fill out a nine-game slate.

The Tigers, whose squad was boosted about one-third with the opening of school the past Monday and now boasts about 35 candidates, will open their season's activity next Friday against the Jonesboro-Hodge High School Tigers here. Also on the Neville roster are games with Natchez, Tallulah, Ruston, Winnfield and Bastrop.

BRAVES BLANK REDS

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Al Javery won his eighth victory, scattering six Cincinnati hits, today as the Boston Braves took the first of a three-game series with the Reds 4 to 0.

Six errors were attributed to a high wind that played tricks with the ball.

L. S. U. ANNOUNCES NAMES OF CHEERLEADERS FOR '44

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 23.—(AP)—The Louisiana State University news bureau announced today that Fred Parnell of Shreveport will serve as head cheerleader for the 1944 season and June Kerlin of Homer will begin her third season as coed cheerleader. They were selected by the student body.

Other members of the cheering squad include Ralph Gremillion of Alexandria, James "Bubber" Jones of Shreveport, Sarah Reid of Canton, Miss., and Doris Webre of New Orleans.

SELMAN CYCLONES TROUNCED BY ARKANSAS A. AND M., 20-0

Billy Cromer Sparks Third Quarter Weevil Offensive To Beat Locals

Playing their opening game of the season before a crowd of over 6,000 fans in the Northeast Junior College stadium, the Cyclones from Selman Field lost, 20 to 0, to the Arkansas A. and M. Boll Weevils here last night.

Although heavily outweighed by the Cyclones, the Boll Weevils managed barely to hold their own with the Selman team until the third quarter when they suddenly surprised everybody by following the inspired leadership of Left Halfback Billy Cromer of Denton High School, Denton, Texas, who piled up a total of 141 yards to score twice in the quarter.

In quick succession, Cromer made two line bucks to force his way with gains of 15 and 20 yards for the two touchdowns. Fullback Wilton Ferrell made the two conversions on Cromer's scoring runs and made the third Aggie touchdown himself as he took a pass of Cromer's over the line, still in the third quarter.

Selman Field stole the entire show in the first half by making ten first downs as compared to the Aggies' four, and piling up a total yardage of 136 yards. The Aggies in the same length of time had only made 73 yards.

The Selman team received the starting kickoff on their own 20-yard line and Bill Harbour carried the ball to the 40. There seemed to be no stopping of the Selman powerhouse once the ball game had got into motion. They made yard after yard, but were always stopped just before they could push the pigskin over for the score. On the first play of the game, Right End John J. Ibert, the former freshman at Tulane, wrenched his ankle and was replaced by Sam Strain of Newberry College in South Carolina. Strain played practically all of the rest of the game and was outstanding in his coverage of his position.

Several good plays for plenty of yardage were made by the Cyclones, but it was impossible to get through the goal line defense of the Boll Weevils. Time after time, "Dub" Mattis, Bill Harbour and Mack Bishop,

PLACE KICK GIVES ARKANSAS, 7-6 WIN

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 23.—(AP)—A perfect placement kick for a point after touchdown gave the University of Arkansas a 7 to 6 victory over the favored University of Missouri Tigers today on the sodden gridiron of Walsh stadium.

Held on the defensive through most of the game, the Razorbacks' score came on a blocked punt by Melvin McGaha late in the third quarter. Henry Ford fell on the slippery pigskin in the end zone for a touchdown and Jim Young picked the extra point.

Missouri, forced to use a running attack when the weather broke up aerial maneuvers, came back midway in the final period with a sustained 66-yard drive and Acting Captain Paul Collins plunged over from the three. Don Litzinger, kicking specialist, was rushed into the game, but his try angled just outside the crossbars.

Time ran out before the Tigers could again move into scoring territory.

The game, witnessed by 8,500 spectators, was the first of the season for both elevens.

PARKER TO FACE CARONE BEAR HUG

Tennessean Has No Fear Of Bostonian's Crusher Olsen Meets Conley

Allen (Sailor) Parker, considered a leading contender for the world's light heavyweight wrestling belt claimed by Jack Steele, will face the power of Fred Carone, Boston bear-hug artist, in the main event on Thursday night's card at Gus Kallio's Arena, it was announced last night.

Carone, whose bear hug has won many battles for him and his two recent scraps here, last Thursday used his crusher to stop Al (Tuffy) Olsen, Kansas City, and figures he can use the hold just as effectively against Parker.

But Nashville's ex-sailor has no fear of Carone's hug. "You have to respect a hold like that," Parker admitted to Promoter Kallio, "but I have no fear. He's crushed down several opponents, but I don't think he can get anywhere using the same tactics on me."

The match will be a 90-minute time limit affair, two falls to win. In the semi-final Promoter Kallio will present Olsen, the tattooed man from Kansas City, and Pat Conley, the former boxer of New Orleans who turned wrestler with success last spring.

Conley hasn't wrestled here in several weeks, and reports on the New Orleans boy's progress as a wrestler Swede a hard battle.

The Olsen-Conley scrap is billed for an hour time limit, also two falls to win.

TIDE BIDS FOR ITS OLD PLACE IN SUN

Thomas Optimistic Over Alabama's Chances; Open Against L. S. U.

By Leroy Simms

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Sept. 23.—(AP) —Alabama's Crimson Tide, bidding or its old place in the gridiron limeght after a year's layoff, will provide o easy pickings for its old rivals depite its lack of weight and experince.

Coach Frank Thomas, who says he as a "lonesome man" last year with o football team, is frankly optimistic ver his chances.

Weight will definitely be lacking in e line and is not plentiful in the ckfield, but the squad of 40-odd opefuls is well advanced for this age of the season, and packs a thal wallop in the pass-throwing m of Harry Gilmer, 18-year-old exrmingham High Schooler.

Two members of the 1942 squad, either with more than a few mines game experience, are back and oth are tentative starters. Jack reen's 180 pounds will be found at ght guard, and Hal Self, five pounds ghter, is the first string quarterback. ending additional experience is alph Jones, a tall 200-pound end om Florence, Ala., who played two ars for Union University.

The probable starting lineup for e crucial opening game with Louana State at Baton Rouge Sept. 30, outlined by Thomas:

Ends—Jones at left, where his pass tching will come in handy, and Jim arl, a 160-pounder from Connellsle, Pa., who is only 17.

Tackles—Tom Whitley, 190, from rmingham's Phillips High, and ddy Edwards, 195, from Attalla, a.

Guards—Green and Billy Conway, genuine 165-pounder, up from the me Woodlawn High team which pplied Gilmer.

Center—Vaughan Mancha, 230 and scharged from the armed forces; a rmer Ramsay (Birmingham) star, d a likely standout in the line.

Quarterback—Self or Hugh Morv, 156, up from Phillips of Birmham.

Left half—Gilmer, 160, and a good nner in addition to his expert pass, John Wade, the best punter on the squad and a star on the Alabama informals last year, next in line.

Right half—James Robertson, 150, letter winner in 1943 at Wake Forest, or Lowell Tew, 190, a 17-year-old from Waynesboro, Miss.

Fullback—Norwood Hodges, 175, from Hueytown, Ala., High, or Fred Grant, 180, who played for Wake Forest in 1943.

Complicating the backfield picture are Carlos Izaguirre, star of the 1943 Vanderbilt informals, who reported late and is running at right half, and Elon Gustafson, 190-pound fullback on the 1941 Alabama freshman team, from Webster Grove, Mo. Gustafson reported for practice Friday.

Johnny Hite and James Corbitt, backs from Nashville, Tenn., who were highly thought of in pre-season ratings, have been out with injuries and are unlikely to see service before mid-season.

The schedule:

Sept. 30, L. S. U. at Baton Rouge (night); Oct. 7, Howard at Birmingham; Oct. 14, Millsaps at Tuscaloosa; Oct. 21, Tennessee at Knoxville; Oct. 27, Kentucky at Montgomery (night); Nov. 4, Georgia at Birmingham; Nov. 11, Mississippi at Mobile; Nov. 18, Mississippi State at Tuscaloosa.

TEXAS AGGIES WIN OVER BRYAN FIELD

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Texas A. and M. breezed to a 39-0 victory over Bryan Air Field here today featuring spectacular runs, long passes and an airtight defense.

The Fliers could gain only 16 yards all afternoon and registered just two first downs.

An 80-yard run by Bobby Goff of Kenedy was the longest run of the game, but the most spectacular touchdown play the Aggies uncorked was a 55-yard pass and touchdown run by Jimmie Cashion of College Station to Norton Higgins of Nacogdoches, with Bob Butchofsky of Ysleta and Paul Yates of Fort Worth clearing Higgins' path with a pair of the prettiest blocks seen on Kyle field since the stellar Jim Sterling was throwing them around in '39, '40 and '41.

The Aggies spent just half of the first quarter feeling out their opponents and then started to work. Bobby Goff of Kenedy and Paul Yates of Fort Worth altered through the line and Yates plunged over the first Aggie marker of the season. Arthur Abraham of El Paso kicked point.

The Aggies gained 147 yards rushing to 3 and made five first downs. Cashion threw four passes, completing three for a gain of 59 yards, and one was intercepted. The Aggie band fielded 90 members and it was announced as many more will be added next week by new freshmen already registered, to bring the organization back to its pre-war figure of 200 pieces.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox defeated Washington, 5 to 4, tonight to move into sixth place in the American League. Bill Dietrich went the route for his 16th victory. Hal Trosky's single with the bases loaded keyed three Chicago runs in the seventh inning to put the Chicagoans into their winning lead. Oliverio Ortiz, right-handed Rookie from Chattanooga, took a defeat in his major league debut, though he allowed the Chicagoans but six hits. Only 1,559 fans furned out for the game.

DODGERS BLAST CUBS

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Ben Chapman snapped the Chicago Cubs' winning streak at six games when he pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to 12 to 3 success tonight in the first Saturday arc light game ever played in Ebbets Field.

Chilly weather held the attendance down to 4,726 paid. The Dodgers scored their first three runs off Paul Erickson who lasted three innings and in the fifth they knocked Japhet Lynn off the mount with a seven-run attack.

SELMAN CYCLONES

playing from the fullback slot, made gains of 10 to 15 yards, but to no avail.

Neither team relied much on the aerial route to win the game. The pass by Sromer to Ferrell in the third quarter was the only completed pass of the evening. Selman attempted 10 passes while the Boll Weevils tried three.

Right at the start of the third quarter, the Aggies took the ball way from the Cyclones on a fumble and started their steady march to victory. Whipping around right end with the speed of a bullet, shifty Bill Cromer gained first 30, then three, 19 and 15 yards to shove the bal lover the goal line and make the first score.

Cyclone defense was incapable of stopping the Denton, Tex., Speedsters rushed around the end position. Although the Selman line was changed time and again, still Cromer would get off.

After Fullback Wilton Ferrell successfully made the conversion on the first Aggie score, Cromer again repeated his dazzling performance, and again carried the ball by leaps and bounds down the field to score. Again Ferrell made the conversion.

Not allowing the Cyclones to rest, the Boll Weevils again advanced down the field via the Cromer route to stop within 20 yards of the goal line at which time a 22-yard pass by Cromer to Ferrell in the end zone completed the Arkansas scoring.

The Cyclones rallied in the fourth and final quarter as Billy Hughes carried the ball for Selman for spectacular gains, but once again, the goal line defense of the Aggies proved too much for the local eleven to pierce. At the same time, the Selman team learned the secret of Cromer's end rushes and held the Aggies from making any further score.

The lineups:

Selman	Pos.	Aggies
Stinnet	LE	Stilwell
Russell	LT	Curfman
Crumpton	LG	Moore
Abernathy	C	Allen
Agusiewicz	RG	Boehlow
Rayburn	RT	Green

Swanson	LH	Cromer
Harbour	RH	Pauley
Entsminger	FB	Farrell

Aggies .... 0 0 20 0—20

Scoring touchdowns: Arkansas A. and M.—Cromer (2), Ferrell (on pass from Cromer). Points after touchdowns: Arkansas A. and M.—Ferrell (2).

The meet runs for 75 days.

PIRATES DEFEAT LOUISIANA TECH

Southwestern Texas Rolls To 26-0 Triumph Over Bulldog Eleven

RUSTON, La., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Quarterback Don Hughes' fancy running and passing gave the Southwestern University Pirates of Georgetown, Texas, a 26 to 0 win over Louisiana Tech here tonight before 3,500.

Hughes, 175-pound marine trainee from North Texas Aggies, ripped 12 yards through tackle to put the Pirates ahead 6-0 in the first period.

That was the only touchdown for Hughes, but he passed one 30 yards to Bratton, Pirate end, early in the second, setup another with a 25-yard run a few minutes later, and in the final quarter passed 31 yards to Bobby Bare. Moore kicked two extra points.

The lineup:

Southwestern	Pos.	La. Tech
Bare	LE	Drum
Files	LT	Stewart
Blodzinski	LG	Lynch
George	C	Rhodes
McFarland	RG	Martin
Blomquist	RT	Miller
Bratton	RE	Clough

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Rising tendencies persisted for selected stocks, particularly locomotive manufacturing issues, in today's market although many leaders lacked progressive power. The ticket tape loafed, and transfers or around 250,000 shares were among the slowest for the year to date. A little bidding cropped up on the idea urgent liquidation, notable by its absence, might mean prices were poised for a genuine rally.

The recently bulging distillers did virtually nothing. While scattered losers were in evidence near the close, fractional advances were plentiful and there were a few wider jumps.

Bonds were steady and commodities, on the whole, higher.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—(AP)—All grain futures markets were strong today and traders attributed most of the upturn to government announcement of a one-cent increase in the price it will pay for cash wheat at markets east of the Mississippi river.

At the close wheat was 1 3/8 to 2 3/8 higher than yesterday's close, December $1.56 5/8.

New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Cotton futures rallied sharply today on aggressive mill and commission house buying which met only scale-up hedge selling.

Larger gains were registered in the distant months as traders again appeared to center attention on further price raising proposals for cotton pending at Washington.

The market also was influenced by the rapid advance in Brazilian cotton prices in the past few days.

Futures closed 20 cents to $1.15 a bale higher.

2—Cards of Thanks

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for their sympathy, kindness and lovely words of comfort, for the beautiful floral offerings and especially do we wish to thank Drs. Graves and Hunter, the nurses, Miss Russell, Miss Peters, the sister of Saint Francis Sanitarium, Monsignor Vandegaer and the Peters Funeral Service for their untiring aid and efforts during the illness and death of our beloved husband, father and grandfather.

TRIES GUNNER JOB; DAY BAD

Lt. Evans Barraged By Flak Over French Rocket Coast

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE BOMBER STATION, ENGLAND.—First Lt. Jack B. Evans, Monroe, La., Flying Fortress first pilot at the base commanded by Col. H. W. Bowman, Arlington, Va., decided he would ride in the tail gunner's position on a mission over France to better understand the job of his crew members.

He picked a bad day for it.

When the formation got over the French rocket coast in the Pas de Calais area, a barrage of flak was directed toward his Fortress. Lt. Evans got a piece through the left leg which broke the bone and a fragment through his shoulder. It was on his eighth mission. Ground crew members counted 32 flak holes in the tail of the big Fort.

Hospitalized and grounded for four months and two days, Lieutenant Evans is flying again and has just completed his 30th mission.

On his first trip over Berlin—he has been there twice—his aircraft lost two superchargers over the target and it was necessary to cross the German capital 2,000 feet below the formation. The big craft was badly shot up by flak and came home alone, dodging flak installations and cities and villages all the way back.

His hardest mission, said Lieutenant Evans, was to southern France almost to the Spanish border. That day he was in his Fort for nearly 11 hours and on the way home forced the formation to almost touch the water in the English channel. Two days later, returning from Bordeaux, he was forced to climb to 32,000 feet to get over a severe weather front.

He has been in the army since 1939, all of his service being in the air corps. He received his wings July 29, 1943, at Lubbock, Tex., and took additional training at Great Falls and Glasgow, Mont., before coming overseas last fall.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Evans, Harrisonburg, La., and is a graduate of Harrisonburg High School. His wife, Mrs. Helen Andrews Evans, resides at Monroe, La., where she is on the high school faculty. He has two brothers in the service, one in the navy and one in the infantry. Lieutenant Evans wears the Distinguished Flying Cross, Purple Heart and Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters.

BAYOU LAFOURCHE TO BE DISCUSSED

Hearing Will Be Held To Determine Value Of Rechanneling

A public hearing to determine the economic value of rechanneling Bayou Lafourche to provide flood control and drainage will be held in the Ouachita parish court house, Friday, September 29, at 10 a. m., it was announced Saturday by Lester Scharff, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Scharff urges every town and community in the drainage basin of the Boeuf river and Bayou Lafourche to have a representative present at this important hearing. These representatives are asked to be prepared to present an oral testimony in behalf of this project, which includes all of the channel of Bayou Lafourche from Point Jefferson, where Bayou Lafourche and Boeuf river divide, southward to the confluence of these two streams. Approval for the channeling of the Boeuf river for 42.2 miles between Point Jefferson and the Arkansas state line has been given by the national board of rivers and harbors. This action was the result of a public hearing which was held in Monroe in November, 1943.

The proposed Bayou Lafourche project will be supplemented by treatment to the upper Boeuf. When completed the channeling of Bayou Lafourche will be of tremendous value in decreasing flood damages and in improving drainage thousands of acres of rich farming land in the Boeuf-Lafourche drainage basin. This project would make approximately 300,000 additional acres available for farm production.

Mr. Scharff stated the Chamber of Commerce has prepared a brief for presentation at this meeting. This brief will not only present the views of the Chamber of Commerce, but also those of the Ouachita parish police jury and the cities of Monroe and West Monroe.

SMALL BUSINESS LUNCHEON TOPIC

Exchange Club To Have Panel Talks On Free Enterprise

That small business shall not be the economic casualty of this war is the aim of an educational program on the problems of business, to be presented Sept. 28 by the Exchange Club of Monroe, it was announced Saturday.

In cooperation with the National Exchange Club, the local Exchange Club will present a panel discussion on "Free Enterprise," as a feature of its war-time educational service to the community, said President Shelby Hill of the club. The program will be featured at the regular meeting of the Exchange Club, at the Frances Hotel.

Asserting that "Free enterprise must be saved," Thomas L. Firnberg will present the viewpoint of Vice-President Henry A. Wallace, an opinion written especially for this program.

Speakers on the panel of topics include: Edwin W. Crowley, "The Fifth Freedom—Free Enterprise"; Gilbert Brown, "Free Enterprise Has Met the Test"; Mike D. Tarver, "Free Enterprise and the Post-War Period."

Following the talks, a brief question-and-answer period will be held.

Unique in its presentation, the Free Enterprise program is another in a series of panel discussions on vital matters pertaining to problems of business, prepared by the National Exchange Club as an educational service, Herold M. Harter, national secretary, explained.

"We are deeply concerned with these problems, because we know that their solution certainly will affect the post-war status of our country," he declared.

FARM EXCHANGE TO OPEN SEPT. 28

The Farmers' Exchange, Inc., Delhi, announces opening on Thursday, September 28. The sale will start at 10 a. m. on that day and will be held each Thursday at 1 p. m. The location is across the railroad from the Union Compress and is regarded by many as Northeast Louisiana's best livestock market.

On opening day there will be sold at auction nothing except cattle, hogs, sheep and goats. After the opening day, anything farmers have to offer will be hold. The exchange charges a commission of three per cent on $500 and above and four per cent under $500.

There will be two auctioneers for the opening. Plans are made for 1,500 head of cattle and 2,000 head of hogs.

SGT. A. TURNER KILLED IN WAR

Loses Life In Action Over Germany, Family Received Notice

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Turner of Boyce, La., has been notified by the war department that S/Sgt. Arlin W. Turner, 23, their only son, was killed in action over Germany June 21, 1944.

Staff Sergeant Turner was first reported missing in action and the only information concerning his ill-fated mission was that on the morning of June 21, the formation of heavy bombers departed from the base in England on a bombing mission to Berlin, Germany. In the vicinity of the target, his Liberator was damaged by enemy anti-aircraft fire and left the formation at about 10:15 a. m. Sergeant Turner acted as tail gunner on his ship.

Young Turner was employed by the Louisiana Power and Light Company in West Monroe before enlisting in the army air corps and was highly regarded by his fellow workers as well as his many other friends.

There will be a requiem high mass conducted at the St. Paschal's Catholic Church in West Monroe, Tuesday morning, Sept. 26, at 8 a. m.

He is survived by his parents of Boyce, La., a great aunt, Miss Mollie Nolan, and the following uncles and aunts: Grayson Wilks, Cecil Wilks, Mrs. C. J. Gaillard, Mrs. R. L. Fuller, Mrs. T. J. Wilkinson, all of the Twin Cities, and F. J. Wilks of Springfield, N. J.

Northeast Louisiana's Best Livestock Market!

THE FARMER'S EXCHANGE
Delhi, Louisiana

OPENING
Thursday, Sept. 28th

It is with pleasure that we announce to you—Farmers and Stockmen of Northeast Louisiana—the opening of our STOCKYARD and AUCTION SALE BARN, the most complete and up-to-date facilities of the kind in the entire State of Louisiana.

We invite you to our first sale—Thursday, Sept. 28—and to bring your cattle and hogs. Help us make this the biggest day of any Livestock Auction Sale that has ever been held in the State.

Do not hesitate to bring your stock. We have the facilities for handling them and the buyers to purchase them—at the highest market prices.

Remember the date and place: THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, DELHI, LOUISIANA.

This Stockyard and Auction Sales Barn is owned by Stockmen and Farmers only—residents of Richland, Madison, East Carroll, West Carroll and Franklin parishes. You are helping these men develop for you one of the best livestock and farm produce markets to be found anywhere when you bring your animals and produce here for sale—at the very best market prices.

Sales will begin on the opening day at 10:00 o'clock a. m.—and thereafter at 1:00 o'clock p. m. each Thursday. There will be nothing sold at auction opening day except cattle, hogs, sheep and goats. After opening day we will sell everything you farmers have to offer.

Our commission will be 3% on $500.00 and above, and 4% under $500.00. Two auctioneers for the opening . . . Modern sleeping quarters for transient buyers, drivers, helpers; comfortable and clean ladies' lounge; cafe; large entrance lobby; all sanitary facilities for white and colored.

Pens for 1,500 head of cattle, 2,000 head of hogs.

NORTHEAST LOUISIANA'S GREATEST STOCK MARKET, with these facilities to be added later: Grain Elevator, Feed Mill, small Creosoting Plant (for creosoting fence posts).

Be with us opening day—Thursday, Sept. 28, the sale beginning at 10 a. m.—and every Thursday thereafter, the sale beginning at 1 p. m.

OKAY, SMART GUY, WHAT'S THE PITCH?.. AND REMEMBER, YOU'RE TALKING TO ME, NOT WILLOW!
ALL RIGHT, BURMA!
SO YOU LEARNED MY NAME FROM THE KID, TOO?.. NOW, I SUPPOSE YOU'LL TAKE YOUR LITTLE TYPEWRITER AND WRITE AN EVER SO CUTE STORY THAT WILL SEND ME TO A BRITISH COOLER – AND BRING YOU A FAT CHECK!
I'VE ALREADY WRITTEN IT, PUSS – AND I'M CARRYING IT BACK TO INDIA MYSELF... I'M LEAVING THIS HOLE!
WHEN IT HITS THE BRITISH CENSORS IN INDIA, THEY'LL PROBABLY KILL IT – BUT THEY WILL HAVE SENT THE MAN IN THE DERBY FOR ME IN THE MEANTIME!
THE WAY I WRITE, THE STORY WILL GO THROUGH... BUT THE BRITISH SECURITY OFFICER WILL MAKE A LITTLE INVESTIGATION ... I KNOW HOW THEY OPERATE!
OKAY, DUNKAN, YOU'VE GOT ME IN THE WRINGER... WHAT'S THE PAYOFF? WHAT WILL IT COST ME TO HAVE YOU KILL THAT PIECE?
I'M NOT FOR SALE!... I WROTE THE STORY BECAUSE IT'S A GOOD YARN! THAT'S ALL THERE IS TO IT...
IS EVERYTHING JUST COPY FOR YOU, YOU COLD FISH? I'LL BET YOU DON'T EVEN CARE WHY THESE KIDS ARE OUT HERE FIGHTING THE JAPS – AS LONG AS WHAT THEY DO IS CIRCUS ENOUGH TO WRITE UP AND SELL TO SOME MAGAZINE!
ACT YOUR AGE, PUSS... THERE'LL ALWAYS BE WARS... IF I'M PAID ENOUGH, I'LL COVER THEM!
AIR COMMAN NUMBER ONE
AND THERE WASN'T ENOUGH GORE AT THIS PLACE – SO YOU'RE TAKING ME APART TO MAKE THE TRIP PAY! YOU DON'T GIVE A HOOT ABOUT THESE AMERICANS AND WHAT THEY'RE FIGHTING FOR! DO YOU? DO YOU?
YOU CAN TAKE IN THE FLAG, PUSS, IT'S AFTER SUNSET!
YOU LOUSE!
NOT VERY ORIGINAL, PUSS... NOW, WILL YOU MOVE ALONG SO I CAN CHANGE CLOTHES AND PACK?
WILLOW, I JUST HAD A CALL FROM COL. CORKIN ... I HAVE TO RUN UP TO INDIA ON THE NEXT FLIGHT! SOME SORT OF SPECIAL JOB...
OH, TERRY, HOW VERY EXCITING...
COULD THE LADY SPARE THE FELLA A GOODBY KISS?

WELL, THEY'VE GOT THE BROW, CHIEF.
IT WAS GREAT WORK. I UNDERSTAND HE LED TRACY ON A MERRY CHASE.
SCENE: THE EMERGENCY ROOM ON THE TOP FLOOR OF THE JAIL ——
YOU SEE, WHEN GRAVEL GERTIE'S SHACK STARTED TO BURN, I SAW THE BROW DASH OUT THE REAR DOOR.
WHEN I CAUGHT UP WITH HIM IT TOOK A LITTLE KNUCKLE TREATMENT TO CONVINCE HIM.
I'LL SAY! YOU REALLY IRONED HIM OUT!
WHAT ABOUT GRAVEL GERTIE? WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO WITH HER, TRACY?
OH-H- MY HOME! IT'S BURNED TO THE GROUND! THE ONLY HOME I EVER HAD (SOB)
GRAB HER, CALLAHAN.
THE POOR OLD GIRL IS RATHER PATHETIC— WHAT IN?
USING THE FAINTING SPELL AS A RUSE, GRAVEL GERTIE GRABS THE OFFICER'S REVOLVER.
HERE, MY SWEET! KILL THEM! KILL THEM ALL!
HANDCUFFED THOUGH HE IS, THE BROW FUMBLES FOR THE SAFETY RELEASE ON THE GUN.
TRACY'S HAND TOUCHES AN INK WELL. THERE IS NO TIME TO LOSE.
THE IMPACT SENDS THE BROW BACKWARD! A CRASH! BROKEN GLASS! —— AS THE BODY HURTLES DOWN.
CRASH
IN THE PARKWAY BELOW STANDS THE NEIGHBORHOOD HONOR ROLL —— A PLAQUE WITH NAMES OF THE BOYS IN SERVICE —— AND A FLAG POLE.
22
LIKE A MIGHTY SABER, THE FLAG POLE REACHES UP TO MEET THE EVIL FORM.
A THUD! AND ALL IS QUIET —— VERY QUIET ON THIS BRIGHT SEPTEMBER DAY.
THUS, THE BROW, FOREIGN AGENT AND ESPIONAGE LEADER, LIES IMPALED BY A POLE BEARING THE FLAG OF THE COUNTRY HE TRIED TO HARM.

HELLO, JOE.
WELL FER GRACIOUS SAKES. ROSALYND FOWLER. HOW ARE YOU? GEE, I HAVEN'T SEEN YOU SINCE SCHOOL.
MY, YOU LOOK FINE.
THAN K'YOU. SO DO YOU. I DON'T REMEMBER THESE TWO. YOUR LITTLE SISTER AN' BROTHER I SUPPOSE.
NO, JOE, THEY'RE MY OWN KIDDIES. I MARRIED LARRY LANG FOUR YEARS AGO.
WELL FOR HEVVENSAKES! HOW IS LARRY? WE USED T'PLAY BASEBALL ON THE SAME TEAM, THE SOUTH STREETERS.
HE'S FINE ACCORDING TO HIS LAST LETTER. HE'S IN NEW GUINEA··· OR HE WAS··· I··· I CAN ONLY HOPE···
OH SURE HE'S FINE, ROSALYND. YOU MUST ALWAYS SAY THAT··· YOU MUST BE SURE···
I WORRY SO ABOUT HIM, JOE··· BUT I TRY TO KEEP BUSY··· IT'S A BIT DIFFICULT TO MAKE ENDS MEET TOO, BUT I WORK IN A DEFENSE PLANT···
MOM TOLE ME YOUR DAD DIED. I'M SO SORRY. I HOPE YOUR MOTHER'S FINE.
THANK YOU, JOE. MOTHER LIVES WITH ME AND LOOKS AFTER THE KIDDIES WHILE I'M AT WORK. BUT WE'RE HAPPY, JOE, WE HAVE TO BE FOR LARRY'S SAKE.
YOU GOT A FINE SPIRIT, ROSALYND. IT WAS GRAND SEEIN' YOU. BE SURE AN' SEND MY BEST T'LARRY.
IF IT ISN'T GORGEOUS HIMSELF. HOWDY BOY. STILL AS SHY AS YOU USED TO BE?
HULLO, EMILY. I GUESS I AM. STILL GOIN' WITH BILL MOSS? YOU SURE WERE WILD ABOUT 'IM.
SHOPPE
NO. LIKE A SAP I MARRIED 'IM, BUT I'M NOT WORKING AT IT. HE'S A PHONEY!
I···UH··· WHY EVERYBODY ALWAYS LIKED BILL. HE SEEMED T'BE A GRAND FELLA.
GRAND? HMMPH! WHEN HE WENT OVERSEAS HE LEFT ME PRACTICALLY STRANDED. I CAN BARELY LIVE ON HIS INCOME AND MAJOR'S PAY!
I'VE HAD TO GIVE UP ONE CAR AND TWO MAIDS. I'M LEFT WITH ONE MEASLY MAID! AND HE GAVE ME THE IMPRESSION HE WAS WORTH MILLIONS!
I'D NEVER HAVE MARRIED HIM··· IF I KNEW HE WAS PRACTICALLY A PAUPER. HE DIDN'T EVEN HAVE A HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS!
YOU'LL HAFTA PARDON ME, EMILY··· AFTER HEARIN' YOU··· I WANTA HURRY OVER TO THE CITY DUMP···

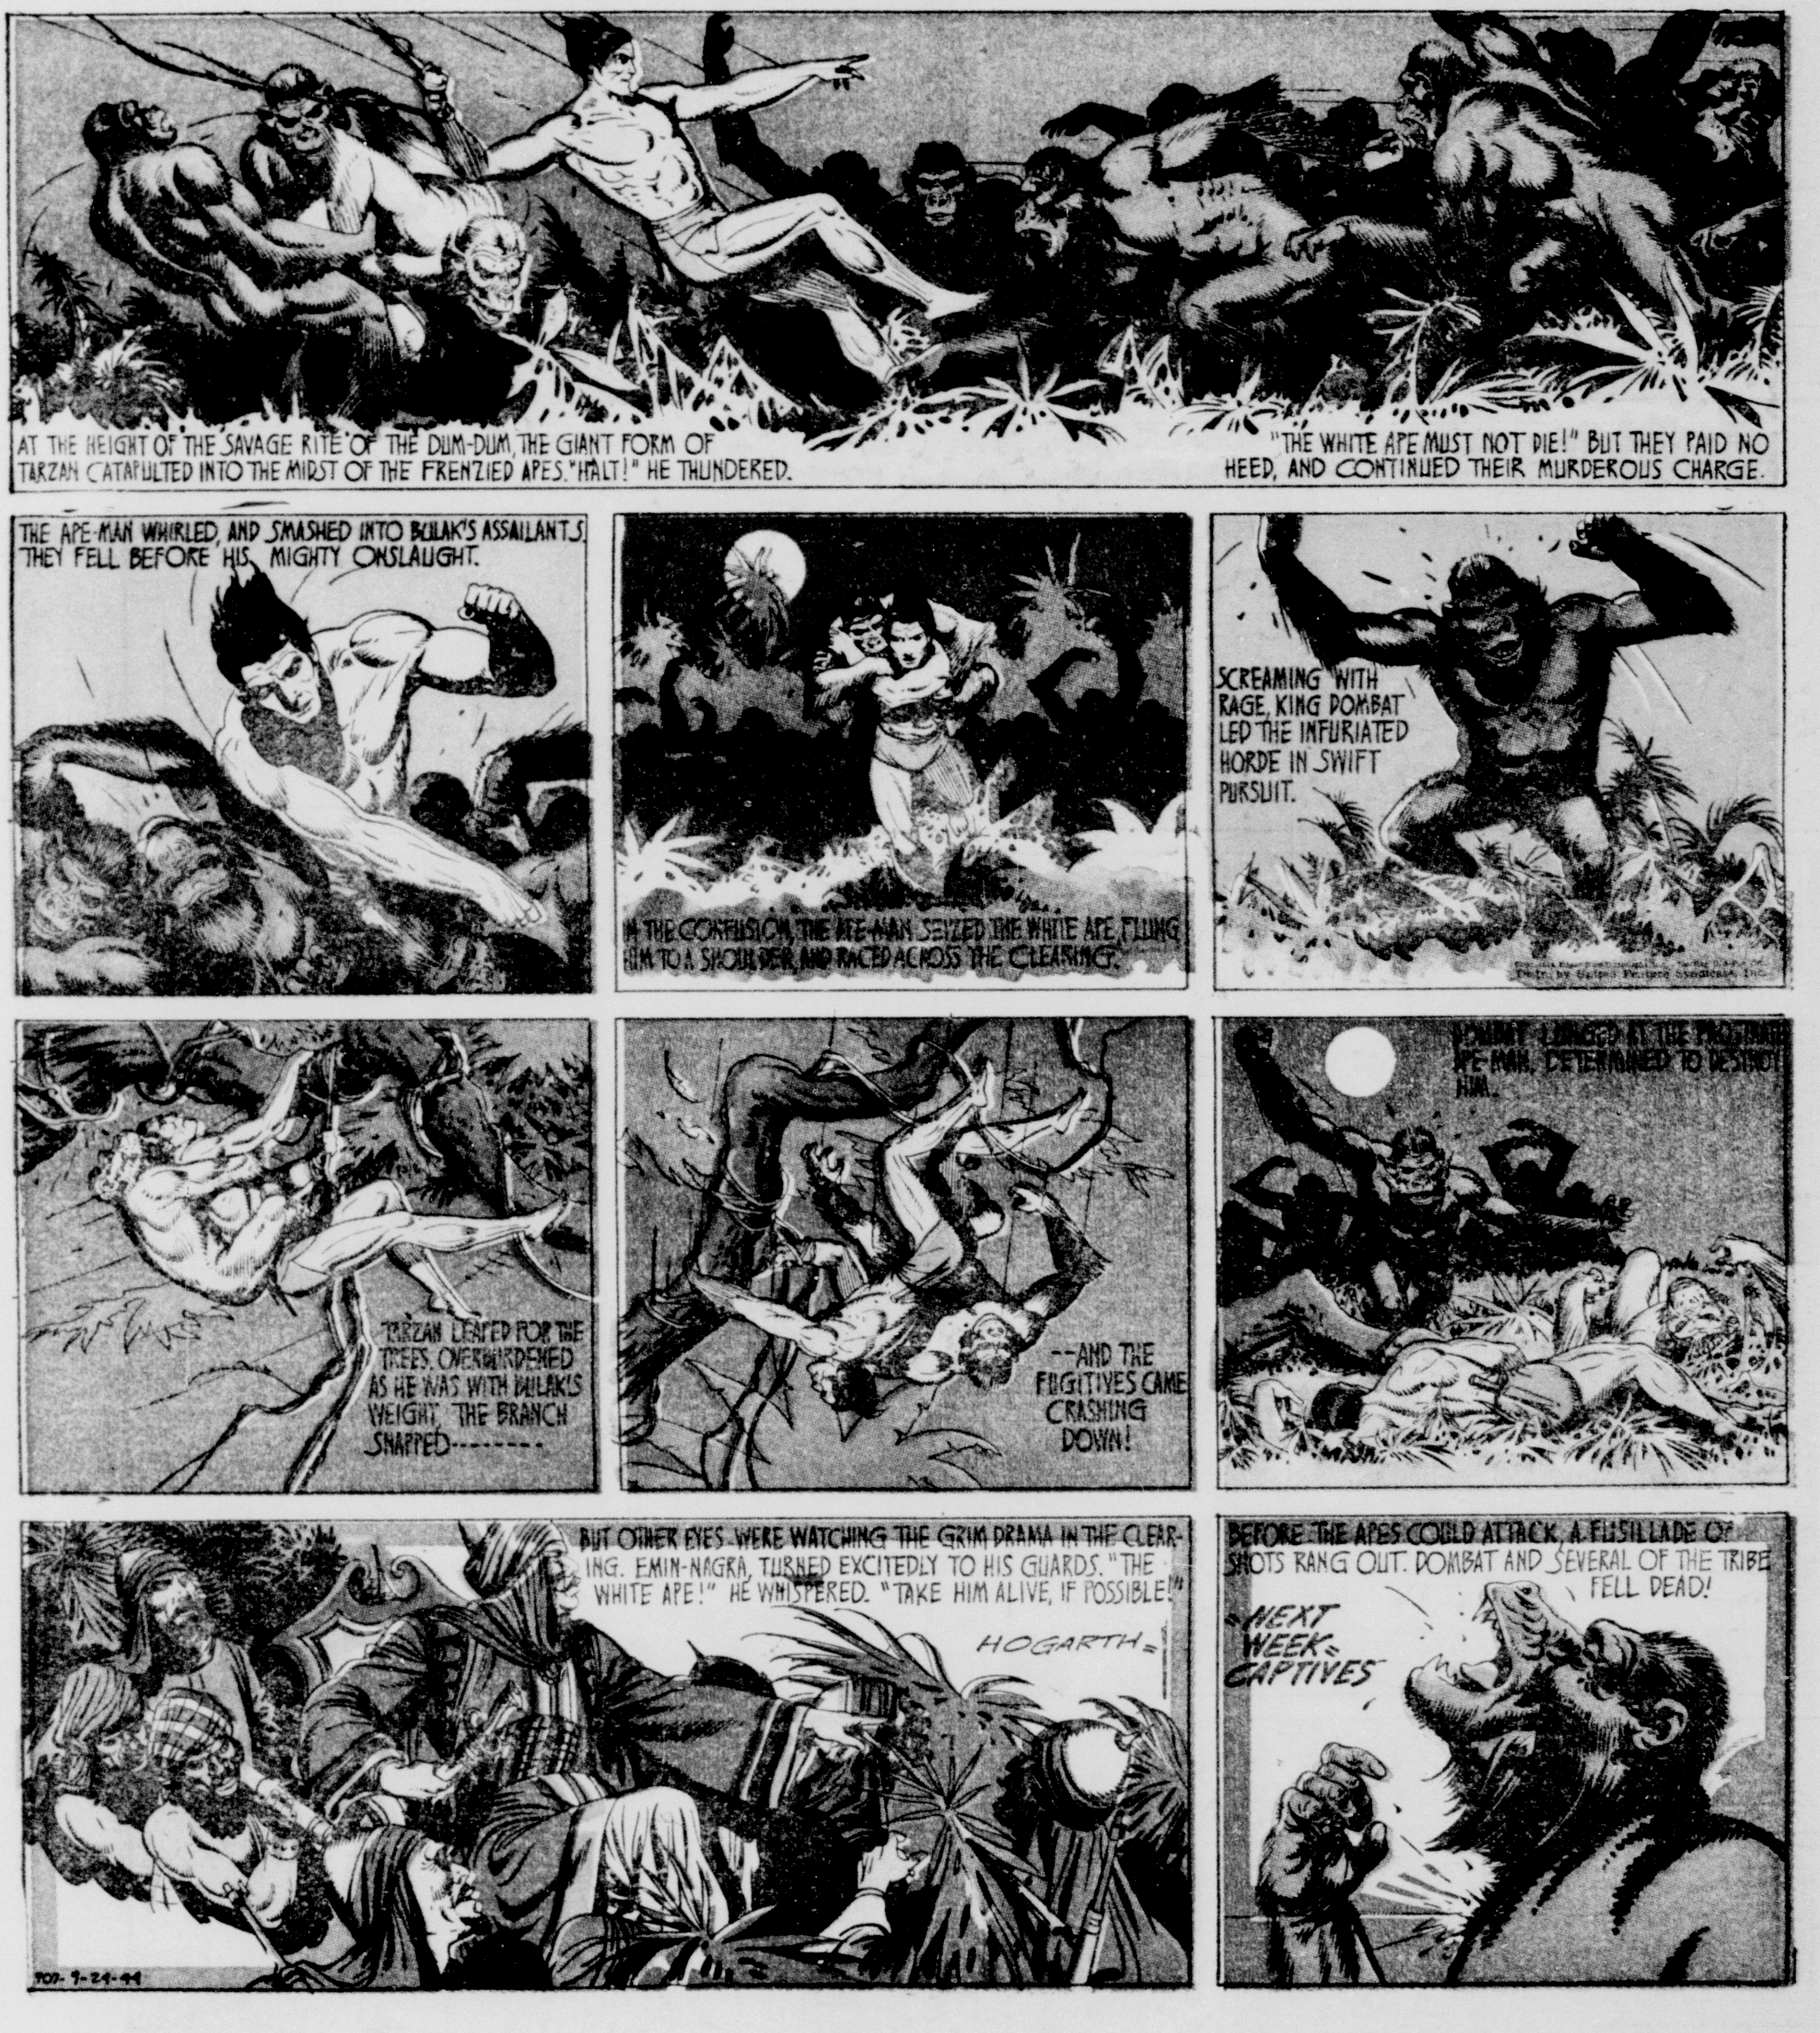
Tarzan

by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS



AT THE HEIGHT OF THE SAVAGE RITE OF THE DUM-DUM, THE GIANT FORM OF TARZAN CATAPULTED INTO THE MIDST OF THE FRENZIED APES. "HALT!" HE THUNDERED.
"THE WHITE APE MUST NOT DIE!" BUT THEY PAID NO HEED, AND CONTINUED THEIR MURDEROUS CHARGE.
THE APE-MAN WHIRLED, AND SMASHED INTO BULAK'S ASSAILANTS. THEY FELL BEFORE HIS MIGHTY ONSLAUGHT.
IN THE CONFUSION, THE APE-MAN SEIZED THE WHITE APE, FLUNG HIM TO A SHOULDER, AND RACED ACROSS THE CLEARING.
Distr. by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.
SCREAMING WITH RAGE, KING DOMBAT LED THE INFURIATED HORDE IN SWIFT PURSUIT.
TARZAN LEAPED FOR THE TREES. OVERBURDENED AS HE WAS WITH BULAK'S WEIGHT, THE BRANCH SNAPPED--------
--AND THE FUGITIVES CAME CRASHING DOWN!
DOMBAT LUNGED AT THE PROSTRATE APE-MAN, DETERMINED TO DESTROY HIM.
BUT OTHER EYES WERE WATCHING THE GRIM DRAMA IN THE CLEARING. EMIN-NAGRA, TURNED EXCITEDLY TO HIS GUARDS. "THE WHITE APE!" HE WHISPERED. "TAKE HIM ALIVE, IF POSSIBLE!"
HOGARTH
